Narrow Escape From Fire

A lot of excelsior or waste of some kind underneath the stairway of the high school building took fire last Tuesday morning. The pupils were gotten out of the building at once by the fire drill and the fire extinguished. Whether it was a case of spontaneous combustion or otherwise has not been fully determined, but the escape from fire was by a narrow margin. The vault of the fire drill as such times cannot be over-estimated, and the drills should be continued so that the pupils may not become bewildered in case of an alarm of fire—Union Republican.
