Wallowa Elects Officers.
 I. P. Morelock is Wallowa's next mayor and it will be his third term, says the Wallow Sun. The new council are J. L. Maxwell, John Goebel and G. H. Meehan. E. L. Holmes is the next treasurer and J. C. Baird the next recorder.

The city election passed off Tuesday with considerable interest manifest and 156 votes cast. This is an increase of 15 over last year but it does not begin to represent the number of increase in legal voters.

The Home of Japan
 The challenge is to be accepted on the fact that at last Wallowa will have an opportunity to witness a performance that deals on a world-wide scale. This occasion will come to Wallowa Monday, April 11, when the magnificent production of Wm. Wambacher's latest comedy success, "The Home of Japan" will be presented at the Standard Opera House. The scenery was designed from authentic photographs under Mr. Wambacher's personal supervision. All the costumes used in the play were made by the Japanese at Kokonoma, Japan, where they were imported direct by Mr. Wambacher for this production. During the action of the comedy many musical numbers will be introduced by Miss Edna Everett and other members of the company. Several theatre parties are being organized to see "The Home of Japan" which promises to have a capacity house when it comes to our city. Tickets are on sale today.

John Finnell Dead.
 The death of John R. Finnell, a well known pioneer, resident of Idaho, occurred in this city Monday afternoon, April 6, relates the High Sheriff. His death was sudden and the deceased was ill only about 48 hours. He had been engaged in building a residence about 1 1/2 miles from Wall, and had been following up on the work, when he was taken ill. He was going to Wall after the usual amount of food and clothing for his family. Mr. Finnell was born in 1848 in New York and came to Idaho in 1878. He was a member of the Grand Lodge, A. O. U. M. and was a well known and respected citizen.

The time to plant a new orchard or add to your present one is now—this spring. Remember this—an orchard planted this spring will be a year nearer bearing and a year nearer profit than an orchard planted next spring. Why not gain that year and that profit? The year thus saved may be the year when you would harvest your first big money-earning crop—the year when fruit prices soared and turned your orchard into a veritable gold mine.

Planting season is not governed by date, season or climatic conditions but by the condition of the stock to be planted. So long as the stock is dormant, it will plant successfully weeks after your spring has opened.

These Idaho trees above listed are dormant—they will plant successfully and make you a model orchard and pay you profits. Every tree is a true Stark Tree—the only standard of tree you can afford to plant. You must order immediately. Send your order and remittance either to:
