A Little Error On Credit

The Portland Oregonian, a newspaper that makes very few errors, clipped an editorial from the Observer and reprinted it yesterday giving credit for the same to the Baker City Herald. This would not be of importance if it did not place this paper in the position of having lifted the editorial from the Baker Herald, and as the writer is a new man in La Grande he does not want to appear in that light when such is not the case.

However, there is no serious harm done as neither the Oregonian or the Herald had anything but the best intentions in the matter. It was a case of giving credit to the wrong paper—an error that any human is liable to make.

Things to Forget

If you see a tall fellow ahead of a crowd,
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,
And you know of a tale whose mere telling
Would cause his proud head to in anguish be bowed,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.
If you know of a skeleton hidden away
In a closet and guarded and kept from the day
In the dark and whose showing, whose sudden display,
Would cause grief and sorrow and life-long
dismay,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a thing that will darken
the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy,
That will wipe out a smile or the least
way annoy
A fellow or cause any gladness to cloy,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

Clean-up Verses from La Grande Poet

In the deep heart of the mountains blue,
The Grande Ronde valley is spread to view.

In the deep heart of the Grande Ronde valley,
Nestles fair La Grande with stream and alley.

All gone—At the mention of our alleys the spirit of poetry takes its flight.

All living outside the fire limits may burn trash on Wednesday. Clean up the yard, the street and the alley.

We will not be a blot on the Grande Ronde valley.

Mother Nature is clothing the mountains in a dress new and beautiful.

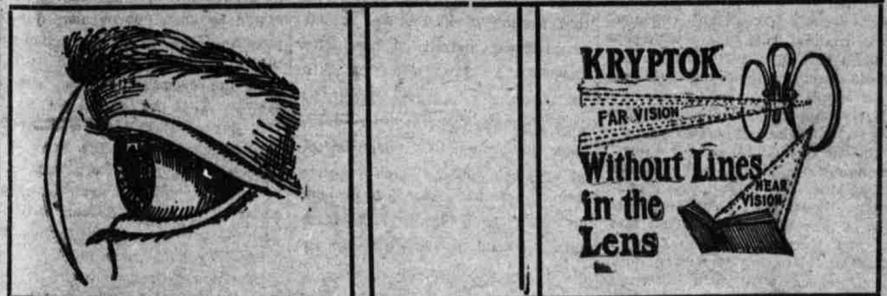

The trees are donning their picnic clothes of green lace trimmed with sunshine.

The lilac nods her head over the cup of the tulip.

A carpet of velvet covers the lawn, but oh, look at the back yard.

"Now honey you clean up your own back yard."
