

About The City

Storm Keeps Crowd Away

The Steward theatre last night was not very well filled on account of the heavy rain that fell just before and during the performance. The play was "His Last Dollar" and those who saw it speak in the highest terms of not only the performance as a whole but each actor as well.

Auto Trip to Union

Although the rain came down in torrents last evening, the representatives of the Clark Wireless Telephone company went over to Union in an automobile. The mud was very heavy but the car was one of La Grande's best and it had no trouble in making its way across the country.

Everyone Wants Them

Painters and paper hangers are in demand at this particular time. It seems that everyone wants to clean house at about the same time. One painter remarked today: "I wish that I were like a joint snake when spring time comes, for then I could sever myself into many pieces and take care of the different jobs that demand me. But a painter has many days in the year when he is not so popular as he is in the spring time."

Humphrey Has a Slogan

Following the Observer's suggestion that La Grande adopt a slogan and the offer of "La Grande, the pay roll town," C. M. Humphrey, one of Union county's earnest boosters, has come forward with a very appropriate phrase. He believes that "Look at La Grande" will catch the eye and ear of the traveler and Mr. Humphrey further thinks that the phrase is so easy to utter that it will be taken up with marked rapidity. If anyone else has something to offer let him come forward. This is no closed session, everybody is invited to talk and speak his mind. By doing so it will give the commercial club numerous offerings from which to select if that body in its judgment decides to use a slogan for this city.

Working On Improvements

After a long wait it becomes evident that work is to be rushed in completing the new depot platform. The new mainline passenger siding is being ballasted and workmen are filling in preparatory to construction of the platform so badly needed. Space is cramped at present and the traveling public anxiously awaits the time when the new improvements will be ready.

Taylor Likes La Grande

D. Taylor, auditor for the Eastern Oregon Light and Power company, spent a few days here the first of the week. In speaking of La Grande as a community he expressed himself in firm words that in his opinion there are few cities in Oregon that are ahead of this one. His confidence in the future for La Grande is great, and he believes it will be but a short time until this will be a second Hood River in fruit growing.

Will Use Magnolite

In making the many repairs and revisions planned on the Foley hotel, it is quite likely that Mr. Foley will have the floors of the lobby, dining room and wash room laid with magnolite, which is a new cement process of tiling. The Oregon hotel at Portland has the same composition in use and pronounces it first class, as do all other hotels and public building owners who have used it. This will add to the appearance of the hotel as well as guarantee an absolutely sanitary condition at all times.

Athena and Weston, the E. O. reports do not want to go to the new county.

A man near Harrisburg will harvest 50 acres of alfalfa this year; next year 100.

Jacksonville will try to get a railroad built to the Blue Lodge mining district.
