Greys and blues, with some browns will be the leading colors in men's clothes this spring. The Hart Schaffner & Marx line at the Peoples Store shows a fine assortment.

MANY AT THE LAKE

NOTABLE PEOPLE OF NORTH-WEST ARE THERE

Census Enumerator Has Visited the Sanatorium at Last

Hot Lake, Ore., May 5.—Mac Wood who went home for a few days to look after the first of the month business, returned to the Lake Wednesday.

Mr. Sage, of Spokane, who has been at the Sanatorium the past couple of weeks, spent Wednesday in La Grande transacting business.

Geo. Ferguson, U. S. census enumerator for the Union district spent Wednesday questioning the 110 Sanatorium employees and as many of the guests as had not been counted in other places. Mr. Ferguson says it was about as busy a day as he had put in since he began making the government count. Like most people who visit the Sanatorium for the first time, he was greatly surprised at the magnitude of the institution.

Friends of Mrs. L. C. Wallington, who left for a three month's visit at Pittsburg last Saturday, received cards this morning stating that "all was well" and that she was merrily "on her way." The cards were mailed at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

E. C. McCook of Pendleton arrived at the Sanatorium Wednesday and will remain for several weeks, taking the baths. Mr. McCook is of the firm of Kupert & McCook, implement dealers. He says the Umatilla wheat crop promises to be exceptionally good this harvest and especially does the light land district give extraordinary promise. Mr. McCook has been a resident of Pendleton for the past seven years and is in a position to appreciate the condition and draw valuable conclusions. In his opinion the 1910 harvest will equal that of 1907, which was the champion one for many years.
