LOCAL ITEMS.

C. C. Robinson is over from Cove today.
 C. A. Russell, of Elgin, is a Savoy guest today.
 E. Barrett came in from Pendleton last evening.
 H. A. Ackert is in from Imbler on a short business visit.
 C. D. Duckworth, a timber man of Portland, is in the city today.
 George Corpe and H. E. Blevins of Cove are in the city today on business.
 Mrs. E. H. Leonard, of Garnet, Montana is a guest at the Foley hotel today.
 Mrs. J. J. Weaver, who has been ill from some time of typhoid fever, is rapidly improving.
 N. K. West is spending the day on his ranch inspecting the spring work that has been done.
 C. P. Harbison came in from Chicago last night and is taking a look at Grande Ronde valley.

F. M. Housh, former superintendent of the Grande Ronde Electric company, is a guest at the Foley hotel today. He is now located at Welser, Idaho.

F. P. Williams, a member of the dining car service, stopped off at La Grande last night and is taking a deep interest in the fruit land situation here.

William Selgrist the Jeweler has returned from Baker City where he went on official business. Mr. Selgrist is watch inspector for the O. R. & N. company.

J. J. Harlan left today for Elgin to repair a boiler for the J. W. Weaver mill. He will also connect an engine for the Spencer saw mill while absent from the city.

Oscar Lund, one of the well known fruit growers of Cove, is in the city today. He says everything looks very fine in the Cove and there is little doubt about a good fruit crop this year as usual. He is building a residence in La Grande and considers it a good investment.

George D. Beaumont, district representative of the Standard Oil company is in the city looking after oil business. Mr. Beaumont is originally from Beaumont, Texas, and if he could only lay claim to more age it would be reasonable to suppose that the city was named for him.

M. L. Mourfield, a special traveling man for Monopole, arrived in the city from St. Louis last night. He will accompany Billy French on his regular route introducing some new brands and at the same time get acquainted with some of the amusing incidents that the Eastern Oregon traveling man encounters.

Senator J. N. Hart, of Baker county, is spending today in La Grande on legal business. He has been in Pendleton attending the session of the supreme court and is on his way home. The senator has been several times mentioned as a candidate for secretary of state on the republican ticket, but when the Observer asked him last evening if he really was, he smiled that smile so well known in political history and laid the subject on the table.

All the patients in the Grande Ronde hospital are getting along nicely in the report this afternoon.

J. F. Baker, city attorney and J. D. Slater, a prominent attorney of this city, have returned from Pendleton where they had business before the supreme court.

The Lyle Tuesday Musicale has rendered some very fine programs this year and the open meeting next Tuesday afternoon should be attended by all lovers of good music. Admission is 15 cents.

Many See the Comet.

Forest Grove, May 6—Halley's comet was seen this morning by the professors and students of astronomy of the Pacific University. The tail appeared five or six degrees long. The comet was visible until 3 a. m. when the twilight faded it.

TWO LATE TO CLASSIFY

FOR RENT—Two nicely furnished front rooms with electric lights and use of bath. Inquire at 1910 Cedar street.

All arrangements are made by the local lodge of Rebekahs for the convention to be held at Cove, Saturday, May 7. The carryalls will be at the Odd Fellows hall at 6 a. m. Those who desire to go should be prompt. Arrangements have been made to return early from the Cove.

Former's Attention

There will be a call meeting of the La Grande local F. E. C. of A., on Saturday, May 7, for the fruit and vegetable men. A full attendance is desired.

J. W. McALLISTER, President.

Horses Wanted

Williamson Brothers of Portland, arrived today for the purpose of buying a car load of draft horses ranging from 1200 lb up. They are located at the Red Front Livery Barn.
