There are Dentists and Dentists

They all advertise some way. Some by their good work and some by their bad work; some through the newspapers who tell things they can do, and other through the papers who tell things they cannot do. A dentist to be a benefactor to the community in which he lives should not only be skillful and conscientious in his work but should TELL the people what can be done in the way of keeping the mouth, that most important part of the human anatomy, in the best possible condition to promote their health and happiness. Then the man who you would intrust with the care of your teeth should be a man who has studied the theory as well as the practice of the work. These days most of people look carefully after their finances, it is necessary with the increased cost of living and the like. Extracting 50 cents.
