

ELECTRICITY FOR EVERY HOME IN LA GRANDE

The cost for wiring, lamps and current is exceedingly small compared with the convenience, comfort and safety obtained by its use.

Your home can be wired complete at an average cost of only $2.00 per room. Lamps, fixtures, bathtubs, cooking utensils and numerous other electrical appliances may be obtained at surprisingly low cost.

Ask your neighbor why he uses electric light; he certainly has some reason for doing so, and then call at our office or our representative call at your house and explain to you why you should have your home wired and use electricity.

OLD BLACK MAMMY STATUE.

National Memorial Planned For Negroes of the South.

The organization of Texas citizens at Galveston having charge of the movement to erect a monument to the "old black mammy of the south" has decided to make it a national tribute. This was determined the other day because of pleas from prominent men all over the United States.

It has practically been decided to raise the fund by public subscription and to erect the monument, of marble, in Washington. It was originally planned to erect it in Galveston with funds subscribed by citizens of Texas. It is contemplated to raise about $1,000,000 and perhaps limit individual subscriptions to $1, although offers have been made by men to contribute $500 to $1,000 each to such a fund.

T. J. Groce, president of the Galveston National bank, is chairman of the organization. Colonel W. L. Moody, banker and cotton broker, and other leading citizens of Texas are identified with the movement. Artists are sending in designs for figures for the monument.

It is planned to elect a joint committee composed of representative men from at least every southern state to have charge of the project.

AN ARCTIC CAMP.

Peary's Canvas Tents, Which Were Absolutely Snow Proof.

"A man's first night in a canvas tent in the arctic is likely to be rather wakeful," says Commander Peary in Hampton's. "The ice makes mysterious noises, the dogs bark and light outside the tent, where they are tethered, and as three Eskimos and one white man usually occupy a small tent and the oil stove is left burning all night the air, notwithstanding the cold, is not overpure, and sometimes the Eskimos begin chanting to the spirits of their ancestors in the middle of the night. Sometimes, too, the new man's nerves are tried by hearing wolves howl in the distance.

"The tents are specially made. They are of lightweight canvas, and the floor of the tent is sewed directly into it. The fly is sewed up, a circular opening in it just large enough to admit a man, and that opening fitted with a circular flap, which is closed by a drawstring, making the tent absolutely snow proof. An ordinary tent when the snow is flying would be filled in no time.

"The tent is pyramidal, with one pole in the center, and the edges are usually held down by the sledge runners or by snowshoes used as tent pegs. The men sleep on the floor in their clothes with a musk ox skin or a couple of deerskins wrapped around them.

"The kitchen box for our sledge journeys is simply a wooden box containing two double burner oil stoves with two cooking pots. The two cooking pots are the bottoms of five gallon coal oil tins fitted with covers. When packed they are turned bottom side up over each stove, and the hinged cover of the wooden box is closed.

"On reaching camp, whether tent or snow igloo, the kitchen box is set down inside. The top of the box is turned up and keeps the heat of the stove from melting the wall of the igloo or burning the tent. The hinged front of the box is turned down and forms a table. The two cooking pots are filled with pounded ice and put on the stove. When the ice melts one pot is used for tea and the other may be used to warm beans or to boil meat if there is any.

"Each man has a quart cup for tea and a hunting knife which serves many purposes. He does not carry a fork, and one teaspoon is considered quite enough for a party of four. Each man helps himself from the pot—sticks in his knife and fishes out a piece of meat.

"The theory of field work is that there shall be two meals a day, one in the morning and one at night. As

If You Want a Maxwell this Year You will have to hurry

It takes 40 freight cars every day, to move the output of the Maxwell-Briscoe at the factory at the present time and before the end of the month that number will be increased to 50, a daily average product of 118 cars. President Briscoe promises 140 cars per day before July.

How it is Done.

Returning from school the other afternoon, a little girl proudly informed her mother that she had learned to "punctuate."

"Well, dear," said her mother, "and how is it done?"

"You see, mother," explained the child, "when you write 'Hark!' you put a hatpin after it, and when you ask a question you put a buttonhook!"
