TOM RICHARDSON RELAXES.

Announcement that Tom Richardson is to retire from active management of the Portland Commercial club on June 30th does not come as a surprise to those who know Mr. Richardson personally. When he was in La Grande a short time ago his friends thought they could understand that the professional publicity man was about to take a little time off and permit his nerves and muscles to relax.

We do not like to see him retire from the position he has filled as no other man could, but we do believe Tom is entitled to some rest and a little time to "get acquainted with his family" as he terms it.

Whether he will re-enter the field at some future time remains to be seen, but this is certain. If there is a slow community on the face of God's green earth that seems to have lost its bearings and wants to get back into the game, a little of Tom Richardson will do the work. He has done more for Oregon, assisted by the newspapers, than any other one factor.

We hope he has made some money, for he is entitled to it. Certainly he has made money for other people. Many a man in Portland now worth more than a hundred thousand can, if he will be honest in the matter, trace his wealth to Tom Richardson's efforts. Usually the man who does the community stunt though, gets little out of it for himself. It may be different with Richardson. He had plenty of experience before coming across the mountains, both with publicity and ingratitude and we hope he profited to the extent that his packets are lined with the coin of the realm and that his future is amply provided for.

La Grande wants Tom to visit here. Not as a professional booster, not on any business mission, but merely as a private citizen who comes to see his friends.

In Oregon there is a move on the part of undertakers and clergymen to pass a law prohibiting Sunday funerals. The reason for this is because all persons employed at funerals want a day of rest. While the proposition is a little of the ordinary there is considerable merit to it. To legislate against burying anyone on Sunday seems out of order, but if there is no other way to break the precedent such may be necessary. In Oregon climate to a day's difference in burial does not count for so much as it does in some localities.

The draymen at Portland have gone on a strike. Probably the draymen are better prepared to carry the load than anyone else.

The bank at Placerville, Colorado, found gold bearing dirt under its building. And there was no run expected on the institution, either.

HEIR TO HOMESTEAD.

Boys' and Girls' Institution at Portland Beneficiary in Will.

The Boys' and Girls' Aid society, of Portland, has been bequeathed a homestead owned by W. L. Justice. The school today went through the necessary steps at the La Grande land office to have the title transferred. This is an unusual occasion and adds to the list of strange things that occur in the land office.
