

WISE TALKS
By The
OFFICE BOY

Say, this is the right kind of dope sheet on kids; ain't it? I believe in boys and girls—the men and women of a great tomorrow. That whatsoever the boy soweth, the man shall reap. I believe in wisdom as revealed in human lives as well as in the pages of a printed book, in ability to work with the hands as well as think with the head and in everything that makes life large and lovely. I believe in beauty in the home, in daily life and in out-of-doors. I believe in laughter, in love, in faith and in all the ideals that lure us on. I believe that every hour of every day we receive a just reward for all we are and all we do. I believe in the present and in its opportunities, in the future and its promises and in the divine joy of living. And I have added one of my own devising: I believe in the old-fashioned, one-price, honorable way of doing business. It's the only way! It's I'll leave it to you. I see that "Opportunity" is out

Corvallis to deliver an address June 14 before the students of the college from which he graduated in 1873, the people of Oregon will meet one of the most forceful men of the State of California, whose influence has been felt not only in that state but throughout the Pacific coast and extended east to the Atlantic.

Associated with Mr. Herrin as the principal speakers on the programs of the Quarter Centennial celebration will be two other men who also attained great prominence but in different fields. James M. Hammons, president of the Montana State college, who will deliver the commencement address has been a leader in the great work of industrial education for many years and is considered one of the ablest men in education work today. Rev. F. W. Clappett, rector of Trinity church, San Francisco, is one of the most eloquent orators on the Pacific coast. Besides these several graduates of the institution who have become prominent in many fields of activity will appear on the program.
