Cove, June 6, Special—Though crippled by the loss of some of its old stars, Cove was able to hand Huntington a defeat here yesterday in a four to three score. The game was clean, practically devoid of errors, and one which delighted the fans throughout. Spoonmore struck out six and allowed 11 hits, while Smith for Cove struck out nine and allowed three hits.

Baker City Wins at Last.

Baker City, June 6.—Special—Baker City came into its own here yesterday by winning the first game of the season, when she defeated Union on the local grounds eight to nothing. The game was too one-sided to be of particular interest, but the contest was a feature in that Baker City was able to break its hard luck streak and get into the winning column.

FRANK RUSSELL'S BODY FOUND.

Lodged Against Obstruction Over 20 Miles from Point of Drowning.

Troy, June 2.—The body of Frank Russell was found last Sunday evening, one mile below the ranch of Charles Shoemaker, in the Grande Ronde river. It was brought to this city the first of the week for burial.

Frank Russell was drowned in the Little Salmon river, about four miles above the river's mouth, April 24. He was attempting to cross the stream at the time. Searching parties were sent out immediately, and a close watch has been kept for the body ever since, though no trace of it before Sunday when it was found.

The body had been drifted down by the current for miles in the Little Salmon river and down below the Shoemaker ranch on the Grande Ronde, a total distance of over 25 miles. It is stated that though the remains had been in the water for so long a period, yet the cold temperature of the rivers had preserved it well. His remaining relatives and friends both at the time of his death and in the recovery and burial of the body have the sympathy of the whole county.

RIGHT AND WRONG METHODS.

Careful Judgment Should Be Given to the Planting of Shrubs and Small Trees So as to Give the Best Picture From the Street and at the Same Time a Pleasing View From House.

As the summer season is at hand new hopes arise. Our ambitions are born over again, and every one vows solemnly to do or at least try to do better. There is to be better home-making, many up to date improvements in various towns this year. Inhabitants of rural communities are throwing out their chests until they take on the appearance of a pouter pigeon and making assertions to the effect that their respective towns are to be given careful attention. Such enthusiasms are good, wholesome and altogether worth encouragement. Let every native of every town whose citizens are not afflicted with the hookworm make the best of them.

New plans for the development of the home grounds are now in order. Such plans should by all means be carefully studied in the evening hours before they are put to the making, and right here a few suggestions may prove interesting and helpful to those who are striving to assist in upbuilding their home towns.

The sketch reproduced below shows two typical methods of designing the grounds about the home. The methods differ radically.

The upper portion of the sketch shows the usual method of arrangement, if we may speak in such terms of that which has neither method nor arrangement. It shows the familiar scene which meets the eyes of a visitor to the average suburban town. The plantings are done in a slipshod way, as though anything will be good enough just so long as we get through with it.

The lower portion of the sketch introduces the proper style of landscape gardening as applied to home grounds in the best form. Sound judgment is used, and the shrubs and small trees are laid out to make the lawn attractive to the gaze of passerby. It makes the lawn look like a lawn instead of a sample of the nursery style of landscape gardening. The whole plan is arranged and should by all means be so designed as to make the best picture from the street and at the same time to give the most pleasing view from the house. Now, gentle reader, if you have the least spark of town improvement ambition in you, see to it that you and your neighbor scrutinize this sketch closely and get busy with your lawn, and it will do much toward making your village an ideal one and tend to draw citizens.

The Country Newspaper.

An important agency in the cultivation of public spirit is the country newspaper, and, however humble it may seem beside the metropolitan daily, it has a place in popular education which is too little regarded, says a Boston daily. Short articles pertaining to local interests are always welcome in its columns, and the men and women who most desire to make home life in the country rich and influential can best do so by contributing freely to its columns of what they have in mind. In some places this has been done, and the result in the quickened life of the community has been gratifying.

Improvements For Common.

Better lighting and seating facilities on Boston Common and the public garden in order that they may become a more proper and comfortable gathering place for Boston's young people on summer evenings was urged before the charities and correction conference of the city of Boston by Miss Frances Curtis of the state board of charity. She declared that lack of amusement for the youth of the city is one of Boston's great drawbacks and suggested the utilization of the Common and garden as a remedy.

Use Judgment in Painting Home.

Use sound judgment when painting the house. See that the surroundings harmonize with the color you select.

Her Bargain.

A man who was detained at the house for a part of the day handed his wife, who was going downtown, a quarter of a dollar and requested her to get him three cigars for it. When she returned she handed him the package, remarking exultantly: "That shows that women can beat men all hollow when it comes to making purchases. I found a place where I could get eight for a quarter instead of three. Isn't that going some?" And the poor man, as he took his medicine, merely remarked: "It certainly is, dear."—Off City Blitz.

Making a Lawn.

On his English tour an American was admiring the velvety smoothness of a certain sward, and, being possessed of land and an overpowering confidence that with money all things are possible, he asked the head gardener how to produce such a lawn. And the gardener said: "It's easy enough, sir. All you need do is to remove all the stones, plow up the ground, plant it with grass seed and roll it for 300 years."

Our Friends.

If we choose our friends for what they are, not for what they have, and if we deserve so great a blessing, then they will be always with us, preserved in absence and even after death, in the amber of memory.—Cicero.

Couldn't Talk.

De Style—You say that loving pair of deaf mutes were sitting in the parlor and didn't carry on a conversation? Gunbusta—They couldn't, for they were holding hands.—New York Press.

I never knew an early rising, hard-working, prudent man, careful of his earnings and strictly honest, who complained of bad luck.—Addison.

SOME GOOD, SOUND ADVICE.

Intended For Farmers, but Useful Also For the Business Man.

A man of considerable experience in retail routes suggests the following series of don'ts for guidance of readers:

- Don't retail your goods at wholesale prices and kirk the grocer if he does not pay you retail price.
- Don't have a different price for each customer.
- Don't have your customers make your prices. Be sure you are right, then go ahead.
- Don't buy cold storage eggs and sell them for freshly laid eggs. It is an insult to honest farmers.
- Don't sell fifty-five pounds for a sixty pound bushel.
- Don't put small apples in bottom of the barrel.
- Don't overestimate the quality of your goods.
- Don't forget that "here a little and there a little" is the gross profit in the end.
- Don't forget that a steady keep at it will win.
- Don't talk politics or religion.
- Don't sell a fowl for a chicken. It will pay best to reverse the order.
- Don't talk about the last customer you called on at the next stopping place.
- Don't try to make people believe you know what they want better than they do.
- Don't forget, rain or shine, circus or town meeting, to be on hand on your regular trips.
- Don't try to sell overcoats in July and linen coats in December. Sell reasonable goods at reasonable times.

Don't forget to say "No" to a doubtful customer.

Don't be afraid to turn your basket of berries bottom side up.

Don't forget to sell No. 1 goods at top notch prices.

Don't forget a bargain counter has its demerits. If you have any, admit it and pass on.

Don't forget to suit your trade, and they will pay for it.

Don't forget common sense people still live.

Don't wear your heart on your sleeve. If you have a banknote to meet keep it to yourself.

TRUTH

No. 26.

And still oil is king.

Oil and gold are the two great mineral products of California. The discovery of gold a little over sixty years ago in California stamped the world. The profits on California oil during the last four years far exceed in value the profits of California's gold mines during the same period.

It was in 1893 that another great discovery was made, that fuel petroleum was an absolute substitute for coal at about one-tenth of the cost of coal fuel.

Today, approximately one-third of all the oil in the United States is produced in California. A recent statistician estimates there are 5,218 wells now producing in California and that the total value of the oil industry is $243,770,000.

It is claimed by those in a position to know, that the demand for oil for fuel and other uses is increasing in advance of the geometrical increase of the production which certainly has increased at a startling ratio during the last two years.

Then why not invest your savings in the California-National Oil Crude Company, a Company that has the greatest of futures before it. Stock for a few days longer at 50 cents per share.
