LOCAL ITEMS.

Fred B. Currey is over from Hot Lake today on business matters.

E. E. Lewis, wife and son came over in their automobile this morning from Union to attend the circus.

B. L. Leavitt returned yesterday from Portland, where he spent the past ten days visiting friends and attending the rose show.

Ralph Reynolds, a guest at the quarter-centennial celebration at O. A. C.—his alma mater, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Snodgrass arrived home last evening from Colfax, Wash. They spent a few days there visiting with relatives.

The Wallowa, Union and Baker county contingents at O. A. C. arrived home today. All told they number more than an hundred.

Mrs. C. F. Merrill will leave for her home in California next Saturday. Mr. Merrill is already there, having accepted a position on a railroad in the sunny south.

Harold Grady arrived home this morning from Starbuck, Wash., where he has been visiting friends since commencement here a couple of weeks ago.

Attorney T. H. Crawford, one of the pioneer graduates of Oregon Agricultural college, who attended the gathering of old grads at Corvallis this week, returned to his home today.

Miss Nellie McClure of Huntington is visiting with Mrs. A. B. Blood of Fruitdale for a few days. She will also visit friends in this city before returning to her home.

George Ball arrived home yesterday from an extended visit at various towns in the Willamette valley. He also saw the rose show in Portland. Mrs. Ball will not return for about two weeks.

J. R. Moore, state manager for the Laurelhurst Co., of Portland, is in the city today taking a look at La Grande and her resources. His company is putting the Laurelhurst addition to Portland on the market.

Charles (Cruck) Reynolds arrived home today from Corvallis where he has completed his freshman year in O. A. C. Mr. Reynolds sprang into prominence by winning his spurs in football in his first year.

Mat Weis and wife and four children of Wisconsin, who arrived a few days ago to settle in the west, have gone to Wallowa county and will take up several homesteads there. Several of the boys are old enough to exercise their homestead rights. Though an over-ardent Rooseveltian,

Mr. Weis enjoys prosperity and happiness with his large family.

Mrs. Mary Hartle of Pendleton, is a guest in La Grande.

H. S. Coffin, W. W. Robertson and Clyde Halleden, of North Yakima, where they own extensive interests, are transacting business in the city today.

Mrs. Mayme Carr Anderson, of Wesser, is a guest with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carr at Hot Lake. Mrs. Carr was operated upon at the hospital Monday but is recovering satisfactorily.

Trains from the West brought large crowds from up river towns and communities this morning, and nothing daunted by the inclemency of the weather, the visitors proceeded to spend a real circus day in the county capital.

Word was received this morning from Mrs. W. D. McMillan, announcing the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Gangwere, of Tiffin, Ohio. Mrs. McMillan, who is spending the summer in Ohio had not reached the home of Mrs. Gangwere, where she had intended to visit during the remainder of her stay, when she was summoned by the announcement of her death, which occurred very suddenly.

GUTHRIE WINS BIG FIGHT.

Capitol Will Remain, Likely, Where It Is Until 1913.

Oklahoma, June 16.—Holding that the enabling act imposed conditions that the capitol remain at Guthrie until 1913, Judge Huston today in district court overruled Governor Haskell's demurrer to the injunction restraining the removal of the state records to this city. It looks like Guthrie will now remain the capitol in 1913 despite the overwhelming result of the election for this city.

Railroad Will Be Hastened Through.

A dispatch in the Portland Telegram states that the O. R. & N. will hasten the new road from Huntington down Snake river to Lewiston, Idaho. This, if the information is correct, will give eastern Oregon and Wallowa county another outlet. A road down Snake river will open up all the vast country in the northeastern portion of this county, throwing markets at the very doors of the ranchers.—Enterprise News-Record.

Elks Hold High Jinks.

Mexico, Mo., June 16.—Jinks of the variety characterized as "high" will mark the state convention of the Missouri Elks in this city today and tomorrow.

Large delegations from St. Louis and other cities came here in automobiles.

Drama at White House.

Washington, June 16.—For the benefit of the Playground association, Mrs. Taft has invited the Coburn Players to appear at the White House this evening and tomorrow, presenting Shakespearean dramas.

Iowa State Bankers.

Des Moines, Ia., June 16.—A wide range of financial topics will be discussed by authorities during the annual session today and tomorrow of the Iowa State Bankers' association.
