DANGEROUS TO DO BUSINESS
 All over the county there is a feeling of unrest in large institutions where many men are employed because of the uncertainty of having men on the job to turn out work. Large factories hesitate in taking extraordinary contracts because of the labor problem. Mills and steel works are behind with orders, not because they have not the crude material to work up but because labor is so uncertain and hard to get.
 Even in La Grande and the Eastern Oregon country plants are not running their capacity in many instances because of labor's uncertainties.
 The owner of an institution may go to bed at night with a complete operating force and get up in the morning to find that several have left with out notice, making it almost impossible to keep things running.
 How long this condition will obtain no one cares to guess, but there is one thing certain—men who will work and be square do not have trouble at the present time of getting a good job.

Mexico is having more trouble inside her own lines. The time is coming without doubt when Uncle Sam will in some measure take care of Mexico and see that she behaves herself. Outside nations are desirous that this be brought about because of the foreign money invested in Mexico, and most people feel that Uncle Sam could act as guardian very comfortably thus making all property safe. President Diaz has done very well, but now that he is breaking in health the people are becoming rebellious.

Probably there has never been a local entertainment that will please and appeal to so many people as the Continental Congress which will be held here on July 4th, during the Chautauqua. Men of prominence have consented to wear continental wardrobe and recite the different lines made famous in history. In so doing there will not only be pleasure in the event but there will be an instructive lesson taught. It is something that every child that is studying history should by all means attend, as well as the grown people.

It is a tossup whether Baker City or Pendleton will have the biggest crowd in La Grande the day Joe Folk speaks. The Chautauqua is popular with the entire Eastern Oregon and this city has made no mistake by getting in the lead on this splendid class of entertainment.
 These daily rains are aiding in making the Grande Ronde stand even higher in the producing rank than ever before. It has been thirty-seven years since there was anything like a crop failure in this valley. Sounds like a good place to live, doesn't it?
