HOT LAKE RECITAL

Unquestionably the finest recital ever produced at the Hot Lake Sanatorium where similar endeavors have often been attempted, was heard last evening when the "Lake" was made into a grand opera auditorium, as it were, and a large number of guests listened to a musical and reading program of really excellent qualities. Vera Jane Edwards was the gifted personage and it is agreed unanimously today that her artistic abilities are superb; she is an interpreter such as is seldom heard outside of the centers of population. No less refreshing to the musical souls were the many other numbers of the program, and from the opening overture to the finale, the program teemed with richness and style. Encore after encore was called for as selections from "The Isle of Spice", "The Jolly Musketeers" and other well known classics were rendered.

The Hot Lake orchestra under the direction of Prof. Selak made its debut and "won a home" as the saying goes in baseball parlance. Vera Jane Edwards of Chicago clinched universal admiration by her first number, "Little Maids of Nicobar," from the well known opera "Isle of Spice" and the second number "A Japanese Love Song," Miss Reath Fowler of Portland singing "Garden of Roses" and "My First Love" was second to none in the cast according to many. Frank R. Bradges, the well known musician and reader, captured the audience too. "I Fear no Foe" by Pinsuti and a monologue constituted his well rendered part of the program. C. P. Fern the well known tenor of this city, rendered that masterpiece, "Friends" in his characteristic manner. Miss Reatha Howard and a chorus of ten demonstrated that as the program neared its end, the style and richness of it was not diminishing. Their number was entitled "Are There More at Home Like Mary?" Mrs. Edwards' third and last appearance—she appeared during the evening in two readings which simply took the audience by storm—was a beautiful pantomime on "The Star Spangled Banner" and she was assisted by ten young ladies. The evening was one of those rare occasions that come to a community and it will be many days before the management can duplicate its recital of last evening. The local talent from Hot Lake assisting in the program were: Miss Anna De Long, Miss Florence Barnett, Miss Marie A. Barnett, Miss Helen Young, Miss Julia McMahan, Miss Irene Miller, Miss Emma Dobbin, Miss Lillian Peterson, Miss Florence Taylor, Miss Laura Menzies, Miss Amy D. Currin, Miss Alton Hood Gus, Melgard, Vern Wright, Harry Armstrong, Maurice Allton, Frank Pasor and George Keough.

Among those who attended from La Grande were: Mrs. Fred B. Currey, J. J. Carr Will French and wife, Mrs. F. R. Bradges, Ralph and Chas. Reynolds, Walter M. Pierce and Hugh McCall. All praise the event in the highest terms.
