Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THE PRESENT IS ENOUGH.

WHAT'S the use to worry,
What's the use to fret,
Over future ages
And what they will get?
If for them we bravely
Build a stately pile,
Massive and substantial,
Will they like its style?

We may keep us busy
Laying for their use
Big canals and tunnels,
Prying mountains loose,
When we have completed
Quite a large supply
Just for their convenience
Maybe they will fly.

Writing for the future
Inkblotter is indeed,
Can the wisest guesser
Know what they will read?
If the book they open
They may, like as not,
Close it in a hurry,
Saying, "Oh, what rot!"

Living in the present
Is a job enough,
Even that is often
Something of a bluff,
Will the future thank us
If for them we fret?
No; it will revile us
As a slow old set.

Different.

"What do you think of the robber trusts?"

"I hate 'em."

"So do I. By the way—"

"Yes."

"I have a friend who can let a fellow in on the ground floor of a good thing."

"Sure it is a good thing?"

"Sure. It is a monopoly of a necessity."

"Let me in, will you?"

Hasty.

"Clothes make a man"

"Oh, do they?"

"I say clothes make a man"

"Say, I'd like to see a suit of clothes get an automobile out of a sand bank."

"How impulsive you are! I was about to remark that clothes make a man mad when they don't fit and make him go broke when they are his wife's."

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults.
