HILGARD NEWS ITEMS.

Hilgard, Oregon, July 16.—Special.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richlin have returned from an extended honeymoon through California and other points on the coast.

Mrs. J. R. Towner left for La Grande on Thursday to be gone a week.

Mrs. Charles Hawes expects to leave Sunday morning for Walla Walla, where she will make a short visit with relatives.

A picnic is being planned among the younger folks for Sunday to take their lunches and go up the river to spend the day.

Nils Holverson's brother Mr. Holverson, is here with his two children from Milton.

stated the same symptoms apply as in typhoid fever and the early symptoms are almost identical, and it is not known from where the infection comes, as the individuals affected live in entirely different parts of the city, with no communication whatever.

Mr. McMasters was only in the county one week, having come from Couer d'Alene, and it must have been developing at that time. Strict quarantine regulations are being enforced wherever the disease is manifest, and it is to be hoped that the disease will be stamped out at once.

Doctor Molitor states that medical science does not know how it is transmitted. If it is transmittable, the state health officers have been notified, but have no suggestions to offer, only advising strict quarantine regulations.

Relatives of the victim to-day have been notified. Deceased was a gentleman of good standing and favorably known in the locality from whence he came and his untimely death will be a shock to his friends.

THE PRIZE PRESENT.

It Was the Gem of the Wedding Gifts He Assured the Bride.

Bored, unexpectably bored, he found himself in the room where the gifts were displayed. But then he might as well be here as any place else, he argued, for everything connected with a wedding was a bore. His gaze wandered listlessly over the collection of silver, meat forks, cut glass berry bowls and onyx clocks till it fell on a faded little old Japanese print almost hidden behind a hideous chafing dish that looked as if it might have been handed down by the cliff dwellers.

In another moment he was before it, tingling with excitement, the spirit of the collector rampant.

"An Utamaro, sure as you're alive!" he exclaimed, looking about for some one with whom to share his joy. Anybody would do, so he tapped a stranger on the shoulder and announced with the air of reporting the discovery of a diamond mine, "It's an Utamaro, the real thing!"

"A what?" asked the man, adjusting his glasses.

"It is by Utamaro, the master of Japanese artists," he answered as he fled in search of his wife. She would understand. "To think of wasting it on those duffers who won't know it from a signboard!" he grumbled.

He found her shaking hands with the bride, so he rushed up and rung the girl's hand enthusiastically. "I have just been admiring that peachy Utamaro!" he exclaimed excitedly.

"A peachy Utamaro? What's that?" asked the bride, mystified.

"That rare old Japanese print you bought. It's the gem of your whole lay-out."

"Oh!" exclaimed the bride faintly, looking a little queer, so he thought, as she turned to greet another guest.

As his wife dragged him away he demanded to know what the dickens was the matter with that Utamaro.

"It was our present to them," she moaned. "I didn't dare tell you. You would have wanted it for your collection."—Los Angeles Times.

The Distinguishing Mark.
"How do you distinguish the waiters from the guests in this cafe? Both wear full dress."
"Yes, but the waiters keep sober."—Cleveland Leader.

SOCIETY

Somewhat of a marathon was successfully indulged in last Monday evening, when a score of young people, executing a walking dinner, commencing in East La Grande and concluding in West La Grande, and making a tour involving a six-course dinner. The Le Jaunesse club and gentlemen friends were the participants in what is socially known as a progressive dinner. The function commenced on the Mrs. J. M. McCall lawn when Misses Florence and Marjorie McCall served the initial course—soup and wafers. The next station was found at 1318 Penn., when Mrs. A. W. Nelson served fruit salad and wafers. The third course—the substantialities—were served at the J. E. Foley home where Misses Ethel Gulling and Miss Etta Foley were the hostesses. At this juncture an elaborate dinner's backbone consisting of roast veal with dressing, creamed new potatoes, cucumber pickles, creamed peas, and a half dozen related dishes, were served. Cut glass in abundance graced the dining room table. On the Mrs. T. N. Murphey lawn and porch the meandering guests were served with lemon pie, coffee and iced nuts. Following a much-needed rest, Mrs. H. M. Bay, at Main and Cedar was the fifth hostess of the evening, serving sherbet and assorted cakes. The finale of the junket came at the J. W. Bush home, 2105 Adams, when the tired but happy tourists enjoyed cigars and nibbled at mints and sipped coffee—according to sex and dictates of tastes. Those who followed in the "trek" were Messrs. and Mesdames H. M. Bay, and A. W. Nelson; Messrs. Archie Bacon, Frank Connors, William Francis, Oscar Jackson, C. B. Clarke and Roscoe Doane; Misses Florence and Marjorie McCall, Etta Foley, Ethel Gulling, Irene Murphey and Ruth Bush.

Miss Sarah Selder was the guest of honor last Thursday evening at the home of Miss Lulu Dawson when the young friends of the popular Illinois lady were delightfully entertained by Miss Dawson. Refreshments and games entertained the guests. Miss Collier, who has been a guest with relatives in La Grande for the past year, expects to leave in a few days for her home in Petersburg, Illinois, where she will resume her school work this fall. While in La Grande Miss Collier has won considerable distinction as a musician. Those attending the function in her honor Thursday evening, were:

Sarah Reive Collier, Nina Tucky, Ruth Ghormley, Helene Curry, Maude Clemmens, Nellie Pickens, Mae Nell, Pauline Newton, Ivy Long, Olive Massee, Florence Dawson and Lulu Dawson.

Miss Merle Allen, one of the popular Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company central girls, entertained in honor of her nineteenth birthday last Thursday afternoon, her guests being fellow workers from "Central" office. A five-course luncheon was served the guests at the home of Miss Allen, the following being guests of the occasion: Misses Pearl Murchison, Nettie Leep, Erma Allen, Lena Jones, Leone Wade, Elsie Wright.

Miss Hazel Thiesen, who recently returned from Portland where she has been attending school the past winter, gave a dinner party last evening at the P. Thiesen home, 1996 First street, to a few of her young friends.

The Kaffee Klatch has disbanded for the summer and will not resume its existence until next fall.

CONFLAGRATION IN NEW YORK

Fire Spreads from Piers to Adjoining Property Doing Much Damage

New York, July 16.—Fire on the pier of the Metropolitan Steamship Company today spread beyond control and is now threatening adjoining property. Every available fire apparatus is fighting the flames. The damage is already immense. The fire started in the turbine of the steamer Harvard, caught the pier and jumped to Washington market and dozens of other structures. Finally all but the pier was saved, and it will be a total loss. Damages, $50,000. The Harvard was towed into stream, the fire extinguished, but she was badly damaged.

Fire destroyed the Brunswick company's piers with a loss of a million dollars. A freighter Dimmock, was also badly damaged.

HEATING CONTRACT LET.

Sutherland of Walla Walla Gets Contract for New School Plant.

George H. Sutherland Plumbing Co. of Walla Walla was awarded the heating contract for the new high school at a meeting of the board last evening. This was an adjourned session, as the bids were not finally acted on the evening they were first opened. Mr. Sutherland is well known in this city.

Ocean Yacht Race.

Boston, July 16.—Under the auspices of the Corinthian Yacht club, the annual Marble-Bay Ridge yacht race started this morning. The conditions of the race are similar to those of last year. The new yacht Grampus, just completed by Arthur P. Homer of this city, is among the contestants.

Chaplain Pierce's Birthday.

Washington, July 16.—Tomorrow Rev. Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, who succeeded the late Dr. Edward Everett Hale as chaplain of the United States senate, will celebrate his forty-fifth birthday. Dr. Pierce received a number of congratulations today. He is pastor of the First Unitarian church in Washington, of which President Taft is a member.

Band Concert Tonight.

A band concert is to precede the production of "A Man from Mexico" at the Aldrome tonight. The music will be accepted as a Saturday evening treat to the public. "The Man From Mexico" is really a fine number and the Aldrome need not be ashamed to shout the virtues of the play. It is full of fun and had it a more dignified price it would be classed as the top theatre stuff. The company is being strengthened with the addition of Mr. and Mrs. Post and is now able to put good shows on in good shape.
