"JUST BEN HAVIN' GOOD TIME." Railroad Man at Union Has Queer Idea of Amusement.

Believing they had run over a section hand just before pulling into Union this morning, the train crew of Passenger train No. 7, very cautiously backed from the depot down the track for about a half mile, when the supposed victim was found at the bottom of a 15-foot ditch, calmly rubbing his head, while leaning on his overturned handcar. How the man escaped from serious injury is somewhat of a miracle.

When the train pulled into the station, the crew was informed that the engine had hit the man, who had started out eastward, shortly before No. 7 arrived. The conductor and brakeman ran down the track at full speed, one on either side, and the train, with excited passengers slowly followed. The section man, who seemed to be much under the influence of intoxicants, was uninjured, and when asked by the breathless conductor, if he was in anyway hurt, the fellow explained his predicament in this manner:

"No, I just ben havin' a good time!" It is supposed the man had seen the train approaching and in pulling the velocipede from the track, his unsteady nerves caused him to roll down the steep embankment, pulling his handcar after him.
