 FROM PAINFUL DISEASE

Arlo Myers, Hero of Academic and Athletic Circles, Passes Away

Showing slight indication of recovery Saturday morning, but sinking rapidly during the afternoon, Arlo Myers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry U. Myers, 2011 Adams avenue, died Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, creating a pall of sorrow over the entire city. The young man, in the prime of boyhood, was one of those exemplary youths always to be found in a community. From him others set their example. He was strong physically, but the ravages of acute arterio-sclerosis caught him a week ago yesterday and death followed Saturday evening. Though he had been critically ill for several days, the rally Saturday morning was taken as a bulwark of recovery, though it is doubtful if he would have recovered from paralytic after effects.

The funeral was held this afternoon and though it was reported that it was to be of a private nature on account of the danger of infection, authorities permitted public attendance.

Companions His Pallbearers.

Close and intimate boy friends acted as pall bearers. No death in the ranks of La Grande's young in recent years, has been felt as universally as this one. Costly wreaths in flowers and roses, which banked the casket at the Myers home from where the funeral was held, spoke but feebly of the esteem which the young man enjoyed, and the presence of friends of the deceased, and of the bereaved family, added to the same fact. The pall bearers were life-long chums and fellow athletes of Arlo's. They were: Charles Harding, Cecil Bolton, Harold Grady, Charles Reynolds, Jerome Foley and Stanley Carpy.

A platoon of thirty fellow classmates and students formed an escort to the cortege, the honorary pallbearers carrying wreaths of mourning. Interment took place in the Masonic cemetery, Rev. H. E. McLeod of the M. E. church officiating.

All barbershops of the city were closed this afternoon in respect to the grief of a fellow craftsman, H. U. Myers, father of the deceased. Arlo was also a member of the barber fraternity of this city, acquiring skill and experience during vacation time.

Recipient of Many Honors

From early boyhood, long before he entered the high school, he was looked upon as a genius in athletic lines, and by the time he entered high school he had already participated in several important events. The freshman class elected him president and he was re-elected for two years following his freshman year, to the same position. His literary society saw him as president. He was an active debater and last winter was one of the three high school debaters who successfully coped with all Eastern Oregon teams except Baker City. His capabilities in forensic circles were always excellent. As a student he was high in his class always, lending the same vigor and vim to academic departments that he did on the athletic field.

As a football player he was a real genius. Diminutive in stature but able to think, plan and execute in the same moment, he rapidly forged to the front as an end, and two years ago and again last fall, was one all-

Eastern Oregon end. Two years ago he captained the local football team, and last year was team manager. Last spring he won merited distinction by running second in the championship relay team and figuring in weight events. At the close of the track season, he was elected captain for 1911, and that office is now vacant. In baseball he was a peer on the mound and few high school players could equal him. Basketball was not his hobby though last year he was a member of the Blue Mountain Association team. In that association he was always an active and skilled member.

Anyone who knew Arlo pointed to him as a capable student, clever athlete—the peer of all around athletes of Oregon—morally setting a high standard and all in all one of the most popular young men that La Grande has ever produced.

Parisian Sage Girls.

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charm of a beautiful woman lies in her hair.

Many women do not realize the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the hair. The women of Paris are famed for their beauty, not because their facial features are superior to those of other women, but because they know how to keep young by supplying vigor, lustre and strength to the hair.

Up to three years ago Parisian Sage could hardly be obtained in America. But now this delightful restorer can be had in every town in America. The Newlin Drug Co. sells it for 50 cents a large bottle, and guarantees it to grow beautiful, luxuriant hair; to turn dull, lifeless hair into lustrous hair; to stop itching of the scalp. Understand that Newlin drug store will give you your money back if it fails. Made only in America by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, New York. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

STREET GRADING WILL START IN

SUPERINTENDENT WHITE COMES TO LA GRANDE AT ONCE

Ample Supply of Rock at the Bunkers to Permit Constant Crushing

Grading of Adams avenue and the other thoroughfares that are to be paved with bitulithic pavement, will commence in a week. Local Superintendent White, now completing a job at Twin Falls, will arrive within a day or two and will bring a street foreman with him. A few days will be required in recruiting men to do the work but the street grading should be under way in a week's time.

Crusher not Yet Here

Assistant Superintendent Corral who has been here for the past two weeks or so in the interest of the Warren Construction company, which is to do the paving and who has charge of the quarry work, reports that the crusher will be here in a few days. Teams to the number of a dozen or so, are hauling from the quarry where a force of men has been employed for some time, and the bunkers which will store the rock are filling rapidly. There are two sets of these bunkers and the crushers will be set where they can conveniently get rock from them. Street grading and crushing usually start simultaneously as the supply of rock on hand at the bunkers will be sufficient by that time, to permit a continuous run, once started.

Great Comedy at Airdome

A mixture of comedy and melodrama in just the right proportion is seen in the Airdome production seen for the first time last night.

"How Baxter Butted In" is the title of the piece, and deals with the adventures of a travelling salesman who discovers a little town in York state. A pleasing novelty is the music that is interpolated in the play "Just My Style," from Fantanna and "Tell Me Pretty Maiden" from Florodora being sung in the first and second acts. Miss Godfrey, and Gibson and Post are also seen in new specialties.

Notice of Final Account.

Estate of John Blevins, deceased. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned administrator of the estate of John Blevins, deceased, has filed his final account in the county court of the state of Oregon for Union county, and that the County Judge has appointed August 5th, 1910, at 10 a. m., at the county court room in La Grande in said county and state as the time and place to hear objections to said final account and for the consideration thereof.

This the 2nd day of July, 1910.
