

SUMMONS.

In The Circuit Court of The State of Oregon For Union County.

Bertha Raby, Plaintiff, vs. Benjamin Raby, Defendant.—
To Benjamin Raby, the above-named defendant:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby summoned to appear and answer or otherwise plead, to the complaint filed in the above-entitled court and cause, on or before six weeks from and after the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: on or before the 27th day of July, A. D., 1910.

And if you fail, neglect or refuse to so appear and answer or otherwise plead herein within said time, plaintiff will thereafter apply to the above-entitled court, for default and decree herein, as prayed for in her complaint, to-wit: for a judgment of default against you for want of answer or other appearance; for a decree of divorce of plaintiff from you, for wilful desertion continuing for a period of more than one year; and for her costs and disbursements in this suit against you, and such other and further relief, from time to time as may be necessary to enforce such decree and judgment.

This summons is served upon you by publication, by virtue of an order of the Hon. J. W. Knowles, Judge of the above entitled court, made and entered on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1910, directing that service hereof be made for a period of six consecutive weeks by publication hereof in the La Grande Evening Observer. That the date of the first publication hereof by virtue of said order, is June 15th, A. D., 1910, and the date of the last publication will be July 27th, A. D. 1910.

Dated at La Grande, Oregon, June 15th, A. D., 1910.

RAILROAD TRACKS.

If You Must Follow Them, Walk Outside, Not Between Them.

Two men, one young and the other grizzled with middle age, were walking beside the railroad track in a Boston suburb on their way to the nearest station. The younger stepped between the rails. "Better walk here," he advised. "It's better walking."
"No," replied the older man. "I never walk on the railroad track." "But we're facing the direction from which trains come," persisted the other. "It's safe." "My son," said the middle aged man, "I was a railroad engineer for more than twenty years, and if I learned one thing from the poor chaps I've seen picked up it was not to walk on a railroad track when there is a possibility of walking anywhere else. If the law stopped all trains running on Sunday and this was Sunday I wouldn't do it. It's the fellow that's sure he's taking all the precautions that gets killed."

Here was a man who knew about railroads from intimate connection with them. His advice was the advice of a man who knew. Every railroad man of experience will say the same as he. In England the tracks are private property, and nobody is allowed to walk upon them, so accidents are rare. Here hardly a day passes that we do not read of men killed while making a thoroughfare of the railroad right of way. And usually it is noted that they were on the "safe" side of the track, became confused by the approach of two trains and stepped in front of one or the other.

Occasionally something is to be gained in distance by taking to the railroad instead of the public highway. The man who feels that he must do this will be wise always to walk beside the track and never on it. It may not be quite as good walking, but he is not likely to suffer regrets in a hospital.—Boston Traveler.
