FARMERS' BUSINESS

WE GIVE PARTICULAR ATTENTION TO THE BUSINESS FARMERS. WE CORDIALLY INVITE THEM TO MAKE THIS THEIR BANKING HOME.

The United States National Bank, LA GRANDE, OREGON.

E. F. Samuel, son of L. Samuel, the general manager of the Oregon Life Insurance company, is here for a few days conferring with the local agent, H. A. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sommer went on to Elgin this morning, having returned from New York last evening where they were guests with prominent New Yorkers for nearly two months.

Mrs. O. E. Harper of Pendleton, has been visiting at the J. W. Bush home for a few days, and expects to return to Pendleton tomorrow morning. Mrs. Harper was a resident of La Grande prior to making Pendleton her home.

Miss Heaton of Enterprise, who was operated upon last week for tumor, is recovering rapidly at the Grande Ronde hospital. Miss Heaton is a popular young lady of Enterprise, and her many friends will be pleased to hear of her rapid improvement.

Peter O'Sullivan and daughter of Pendleton, were called to Joseph this morning by the serious illness of Mrs. O'Sullivan, who has been staying at Joseph for a few weeks. She had partially recovered from a long and weary illness and went to Joseph to visit her daughter, but was taken ill, and it is believed she is in a critical condition again.

Unconscious Humor.

Mark Twain, as an example of unconscious humor, used to quote a Hartford woman who said one day in the late spring: "My husband is the dearest fellow. 'Jim,' I said to him this morning, 'are you very hard up just now?' 'I certainly am hard up,' he replied soberly. 'This high cost of living is terrible. I don't know what I'm going to do.' 'Then, Jim,' said I, 'I'll give up all thought of going to the country for July and August this year.' 'But the dear fellow's face changed, and he said: 'Indeed, then, you won't, darling. I thought you wanted to buy a hat with an egret or some such foolishness. No, no, my darling! Jim can always find the money to let his dear little wife go to the country.'—Washington Star.

Looking For "The Crazy Ones."

A woman got off a Darby car at Thirty-fourth street and, Woodland avenue the other day, entered the university campus and started toward College hall, walking with brisk determination, yet looking wonderingly about her the while.

In front of the library a university youth met her, and she accosted him quickly.

"Young man," she said, "will you please tell me where they keep the crazy ones?"

"Wh-what?" stammered the college man.

She repeated her question in somewhat different form.

"I want the insane department," she said, "I have a friend who is a nurse there. I thought I'd make her a little visit. Isn't this the Philadelphia hospital?"—Philadelphia Times.

A Growsome "Charm."

One of the most growsome "charms" is that which was at one time extensively used as a cure for wens. The hand of a dead criminal still hanging had to be rubbed three times over the wen. A correspondent in London Notes and Queries some few years since wrote that many persons were then living who in their younger days had undergone the ceremony, always, they maintained, with complete success. "On execution days at Northampton," he adds, "numbers of sufferers used to congregate around the gallows in order to receive the 'dead stroke,' as it was termed. At the last execution which took place in that town a very few only were operated upon, not so much in consequence of decrease of faith as from the higher fee demanded by the hangman."

Paternal Fortitude.

I was calling, when the little daughter of my hostess came into the room. Knowing that her mother's mother had that morning returned home after a somewhat lengthy visit I said: "Weren't you sorry to have grandma go away, Pearl?" "Yes, I was," she answered promptly, "and so was mamma—very sorry. But," and she paused thoughtfully for a moment, "I couldn't see at breakfast but that papa was just as cheerful as ever."

Not Enthusiastic.

"My boy's back from college." "How does he take bolt on the farm?" "I hadn't seen him make no rush for the wood pile."—Kansas Journal.

Dreadful.

Stella—A dreadful experience, say? Belle—Yes; I saw a great many shoes when I had a hole in the stocking!—Ladies' Guest.

The busy man will take time to fiddle a bit of printing that has the feel and look of quality.

It's the eternal fitness of things that counts for good.

Our printing has the "feel" and the "look", and is sold on the assumption that there's economy in quality.

SOCIETY

The most elaborate card party of the summer—commonly known as the "Silly Season,"—and perhaps as fashionable as any function arranged this year, occurred Friday afternoon, when Mrs. T. N. Murphey, Mrs. J. C. Gulling and Mrs. J. B. Moore of Golden, Colo., entertained at Five Hundred at Mrs. Murphey's home, 902 Main street. Five prizes were awarded, the winners in their order being: Mrs. Delle Green, Mrs. H. C. Grady, Mrs. C. P. Newlin, Mrs. S. Edmonds, and Mrs. W. R. Jones. The guests were: Mesdames F. Boch, William Allinson, Frank L. Lilly, M. K. Hall, E. E. Bragg, C. P. Newlin, Vincent Palmer, J. E. Reynolds, Ed Wright, S. Edmonds, A. B. Cherry, Robert Pattison, Will Y. Stoddard, Clara Scriber, C. S. Dunn, J. D. Slater, W. J. Lindsey, H. C. Grady, F. L. Meyers, E. Polack, M. B. Donohue, Jay Van Buren, Robert Newlin, W. R. Jones, F. E. Kiddie, A. L. Richardson, David Clark of Cove, Julius Roesch, Lou Given, Delle Green, W. H. Bohnenkamp, H. C. Rinehart, Will French, Adolph Newlin, W. S. McMillan, George Palmer, C. A. Vurpillat, John Thieson, J. G. Snodgrass, Misses Margaret Newlin, Bess Bohnenkamp, Ethel Reith of Spokane, and Margaret Anson.

After resting for the summer months, the Neighborhood club is to reappear in social and philanthropic enterprises, for on Wednesday, August 24, the club will serve a chicken pie dinner to defray the expenses of meeting the prizes for the astor sow. The club has secured the Odd Fellows' hall and will serve one of those dinners which the Neighborhood club is so adept at. The hours will be announced later, but will probably be from 5 to 7. More detailed announcement will be made later.

Miss Callie Nason, of Grand Rapids, Wis., is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. Stella Ingle this week. Miss Nason is manager of a paper mill at Grand Rapids, and is said to be the only lady in the U. S. to hold such a position.

STATE UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB

Coming to La Grande This Winter After Year's Absence.

The Oregon Glee and Mandolin Clubs, which have appeared in La Grande several times, will in all probability be here again this fall for one of their popular entertainments. Thomas A. Burke, president and leader of the club the past year, spent last Sunday in Baker City conferring with Manager Sweek of the Glee and Mandolin clubs, who spent a few days at that place looking after the prospects for an eastern Oregon trip during the Christmas holidays. Last year the

Dr. M. P. Mendlessohn

Permanently located 1105 Adams Ave., Opposite P
Dr. Mendlessohn has been, at the request and endorsement of all the city physicians permanently located here since August 1, 1909, and during this period has treated professionally nearly 2100 patients, among them 175 children, and can truthfully say that I have succeeded in doing better work and more work than any man ever did in Union and Wallowa counties. This proves that I have conducted my practice on a basis that appeals to everyone. My business is on a square deal to everybody. I rarely hear complaints and am always ready and willing to correct any error that I make.
My 29 years experience in the practice of Optics in itself is a valuable asset.

If your eyes trouble you, see me. I believe my extensive experience and skill, together with my honesty and sincerity of purpose, I can give you a guarantee of truthfulness and satisfaction. I refer you to your neighbor. Ask your physician who is the most reliable man in the city of La Grande to fit your eyes. I am endorsed by the most prominent oculists in Portland and all the physicians in the city.

We duplicate exactly any lens, no matter who made or prescribed it. Save the pieces and we will do the rest while you wait.

boys, thirty in number, accompanied by "Papa" Glen, the well-known musical director of the state University, toured the southern part of state as far as the California line, and north as far as Portland, closing the most successful season in the history of the organization's annual tours, both financially and from the standpoint of a first-class entertainment. Manager Sweek believes that he can even do better in an Eastern Oregon trip the coming season, and already is beginning to arrange his schedule to include Baker City, La Grande, Pendleton, Hood River, The Dalles and Portland, with as many of the valley towns as the faculty will see fit to grant.

Most of the old men on the glee club will be back in line again, as far as known at present. The sad drowning in Portland recently, of Samuel Davidson, who has led the baritone section for the past three years, leaves a vacancy in that row, and in all probability two first tenors, a second, and to basses will be selected at the tryout held the first week of college. From that time on until the middle of December the club practices two hours each day, and with so many old men in the line, it is needless to say the concert will be the best ever given.

Mr. Burke, who is spending his vacation at work on the Observer linotype machine, has taken part in two Oregon Glee club concerts in La Grande in the past three years. He shared the embarrassment of the Oregon lads in 1897, when the O. A. C. rooters at this place, dropped a Corvallis banner from the wings above the stage, much to the delight of the audience. The following year, however, the Oregon songsters turned the trick in a very fitting manner, and evened up the good-natured rivalry that existed between the followers of the two colleges. It is hard to predict what will happen at this year's concert—much depending on how Oregon and Corvallis show up in football the coming season.
