SIRES AND SONS.

It was in a circus band that John Philip Sousa made his start in life. Sir Hiram Maxim proposes legalized roulette wheels in England, $10 out of every $500 to go to the state, which could pay the national debt in a few years.

General George Washington Gordon of Memphis is the last remaining brigadier of the Confederacy in congress. At one time there were twenty-nine Confederate general officers there.

Representative Brownlow of the First Tennessee district was doorkeeper for the Forty-seventh congress, and Representative Austin of the Second Tennessee district was assistant doorkeeper at the same time.

But two veterans are left of the gallant 600 who charged at Balaklava—the octogenarian, Lord Tredegar, who was a subaltern of the Seventeenth lancers, and the near equally aged Sir George Wombwell of the same regiment.

Paul J. Rainey, a popular society man and known as America's greatest spender, sailed recently from Boston on a steamship that he chartered for his own use and outfitted at an expense of about $500,000 for a long expedition to the arctic regions.

J. E. Ralph, director of the government bureau of engraving and printing, is the inventor of the plan and machinery for the new project of washing the soiled redeemed currency for reuse and thus saving the country a million or more annually.

The Writers.

M. Rostand is engaged upon a new work about which he is maintaining strict secrecy.

Custis Hidden Page, the poet and essayist, is a Harvard graduate and professorship of romance languages and literature at the Northwestern university.

Fedor Dostolevsky, the Russian novelist, was born in 1821, the son of a surgeon. According to Maurice Baring, the English writer, Dostolevsky is one of the two great columns which support the temple of Russian literature. Tolstoy is the other. Turgenev is placed by Mr. Baring inside the temple.

IT CERTAINLY LOOKS GOOD

to the children when they see the delicious bread made from the North Powder Best of the Best Patent flour. It is a meal for the little ones, with butter, jam or jelly, that is wholesome and muscle building. It looks good also to the housewife when she sees the golden brown crisp and the white bread inside when it comes from the oven. It also smells appetizing when made from Best of Best Flour.
