Country Will Right Itself When Big Businesses Are Let Alone.

IF the big businesses of the country were let alone they could easily take care of themselves and the country would RIGHT ITSELF INTO NORMAL CONDITIONS.

THERE ARE SOME HONEST, INTELLIGENT MEN IN THIS COUNTRY WHO WANT TO DO BUSINESS THE RIGHT WAY. IN FACT, THEY WOULD MUCH RATHER DO BUSINESS THE RIGHT WAY THAN THE WRONG WAY, BUT THEY CAN'T DO IT AS LONG AS THEY ARE HAMPERED WITH POLITICS. JUST LET US ALONE.

A lot of money has been diverted from the regular channels by the collection of corporation and other taxes, and this has made itself felt. By and by this money will get back into circulation, and then with the big crops things will begin to LOOK BETTER.

Laziness In Children Is A Hereditary Disease.

By Dr. LAUMONIER, French Physician.

WHAT IS KNOWN AS LAZINESS AT SCHOOL IS VERY OFTEN NOTHING BUT THE MANIFESTATION OF A MORBID STATE OF HEALTH, AND SUCH CHILDREN SHOULD NOT BE PUNISHED. THEY ARE INVALIDS.

Of twenty-seven lazy school children I found twenty-two had parents suffering from obesity, gout, diabetes, arterial sclerosis or nervous troubles. SLUGGISHNESS IN VARIOUS FORMS IS TRANSMITTED TO THE OFFSPRING as the result of maladies from which the parents suffered.

Such children simply need more than the usual share of fresh air, suitable exercise and careful supervision. Often, of course, an unsuitable diet affects a child's power of application.

Unfortunately, children are often punished for willful laziness when MALNUTRITION OR INDIGESTION IS THE TRUE CAUSE of their inertia.

STUDY CHILDREN'S DIGESTION AND BREATHING BEFORE BLAMING THEM FOR LAZINESS.

Children Learn to Be Bad At Home, Not at School.

By Superintendent JAMES M. GREENWOOD of the Kansas City, Mo., Schools.

THE FIRST LESSON OF THE CHILD SHOULD BE OBEDIENCE, WHICH SHOULD BEGIN WITH HOME TRAINING. IN THE HOME LIFE AND WHAT ISSUES FROM IT CHARACTER IS LARGELY MADE OR UNMADE.

The teacher must deal with human nature in the crude state and should remember that GOOD TEACHING IS A MORAL FORCE. A most valuable exercise is the testing of the moral judgments of children on practical experiments as they arise in school work. All actions should have a moral basis for their background.

Each exact science is based upon certain elementary principles—to wit, the mathematical, physical, biological and other sciences—and it is through the mastery of a few definite fundamental truths that the learner comes to a clear and unquestioning recognition of the abstract principles constituting any science. In the moral sphere the child AT FIRST HAS NO INTUITIONS OF THE ABSTRACT PRINCIPLES OF RIGHT AND WRONG, but as he grows in knowledge the time is reached that when he witnesses an act he FEELS it to be right or wrong, and he further decides that it is a good or bad act.

It is from this norm, branching out in two different directions, that the child begins his crude generalizations on moral questions.

As a result of this process of mental thinking and acting a philosophy of conduct is established that becomes as valid to him in the moral sphere as are the fundamental principles of any other science to the student engaged in the pursuit of any particular department of learning. Thus a constant repetition of virtuous acts grows into HABIT, habit develops into CHARACTER, character makes CONDUCT, and conduct is the greatest part of active life in conformity to one's nature.

It is a matter of the highest importance that children at home should be TRAINED INTO HABITS OF RIGHT BEHAVIOR IN ORDER TO GET CONTROL OF THEMSELVES BEFORE THEY ENTER SCHOOL.
