THE SPEED MANIA.

Sensations That Come With a Ride in a Racing Motor.

Imagine yourself in a big racing machine plunging over a course at eighty miles an hour. For the average man the sensation is awful, but the speed kings revel in it. Down the road streaks the car. Lashed into a typhoon by the appalling speed, the still air roars to your ears. You think you will never regain your hearing. The resistance of the atmosphere is fearful. The slightest forward movement is an effort. Distant objects loom up suddenly before you and jump by. The landscape is a streaky line of green, blotched here and there as a house is passed. The gale seems to cut your face, and you feel yourself being gradually flattened out against the back of the seat. It seems that the glass in your auto goggles is on the point of breaking. Particles of dust are driven back in your eyes. You may become blinded. The vibration of the engine is terrific. Mysterious indicators fluctuate alarmingly. It may mean that the engine is on the point of exploding. What makes the floor tremble so? Surely something will happen now!

And then you hear explosions booming from the exhausts as the drivers "shut off." A sharp turn is ahead. The noise is deafening. The terrific speed does not seem to have been checked. The outline of the turn grows more distinct. It is sheer folly—maybe death—to rush at it at such a pace. You dare not breathe as the car tears into the bend. It skids and a wall of dirt is thrown up alongside you as the driver, with a sharp twist of the wheel, sends the car once more back in the middle of the road. You are safe—until another turn is encountered.—Hampton's Magazine.

A Painful Inference.

A teacher was instructing a class of boys and had spent half an hour trying to drive into their heads the difference between man and the lower animals, but apparently with little success.

"Tommy," he said coaxingly to a little chap, "do you know the difference between, say, me and a pig or any other brute?"

"No," replied Tommy innocently, but another teacher standing by laughed.—London Answers.

IT CERTAINLY

LOOKS GOOD

to the children when they see the delicious bread made from the North Powder Best of the Best Patent Flour. It is a meal for the little ones, with butter, jam or jelly, that is wholesome and muscle building. It looks good also to the housewife when she sees the golden, brown crisp and the white bread inside when it comes from the oven. It also smells so appetizing when made from Best of Best Flour.

"Women are terribly hard to understand."
"Oh, I don't know."
"How is that?"
"I never try, and then they come in socks and explain the whole thing."

The people who preach what they practice are rather particular about their creed.

When in doubt, don't.

The men who don't have the bills to pay are the ones who most admire the fripperies of women.

There are some delightful people who simply insist upon enjoying life for themselves and for you too.

Many a man expects his wife to act as a sort of alarm clock to his conscience.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It would be all right to make haste slowly if that were the way haste is made.

We are getting older every day, but so are the rest of human creatures, so what's the difference?

The reason why there are so many persons dead sure that they know how to run the world is because they never have a chance to prove themselves wrong.
