In the county court of the state of Oregon for Union county. In the matter of the organization of the La Grande Irrigation District in Union county, Oregon.

PETITION. To the Honorable County Court of Union County, Oregon: We, the undersigned petitioners, consisting of more than fifty holders of title to lands in Union County, Oregon, susceptible of irrigation from a common or combined source, namely, from the waters of the Grand Ronde River and its tributaries, and by a system of works consisting of reservoirs, dams, canals and distributing ditches built, constructed and maintained, upon said Grande Ronde river and its tributaries in Union County, Oregon, for reservoiring, storing, diverting, conducting and distributing the waters of said stream over said lands for irrigating purposes, and all of which lands title to which is held by your petitioners are situated within the boundaries of the Irrigation District herein petitioned for, do hereby petition your Hon. Court and pray that the same may be organized into an irrigation district under the provisions of an Act of the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, entitled "An act to provide for the organization and government of irrigation districts, and to provide for the acquisition of water and other property and for the distribution of water thereby for irrigation purposes, and for other and similar purposes," approved February 20th, 1895, and amendments thereto, and which irrigation district shall be bounded and known as the La Grande Irrigation District and is and shall be bounded and described as follows:

WARREN G. HARDING.

Career of the Republican Nominee For Governor of Ohio. The Republican nominee for governor of Ohio, Warren G. Harding, is forty-five years old and a native of Ohio, having been born in Blooming Grove, Morrow county, on Nov. 2, 1865. Mr. Harding is a newspaper man and proprietor of the Marion Evening Star of Marion, where he has lived since 1882. He was educated in the public schools and at Ohio Central college at Iberia, the college not now being in existence. He taught school one year and studied law one year and then went into newspaper work. He was elected to the state senate in 1889 from the counties of Logan, Union, Marion and Hardin, that being his first whirl in politics, and he has been prominent in the politics of the state ever since, serving as lieutenant governor of Ohio under Myron T. Herrick. During the career of ex-Senator Joseph B. Foraker Mr. Harding was known as an ardent follower and admirer of the senator, but in late years he has not actively allied himself with any faction of the party. He has been mentioned for the governorship a number of times, but has given way to others until now.

Mr. Harding's great-grandfather, George Tyrone Harding, got his name from a family connection with one of the colonial governors of Connecticut, and his great-grandmother was Elizabeth Madison, a type of the early Ohio pioneer woman. His grandfather, Charles A. Harding, and his grandmother, Mary Crawford Harding, had but one son, George Tyrone, who is a practicing physician at Marion and father of Warren G. His mother, who died recently, was Phoebe Elizabeth Dickerson, descendant of the Dickerson-Van Kirk family.

NEW MEDICINE JOKE FOUND GREAT QUANTITIES OF ALCOHOL SHIPPED IN BOTTLES "Brand" Changes From Small Print to Attractive Sized Letters

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31—Special—Uncle Sam has just uncovered a patent medicine joke which, if it were not of national import and serious in its pressure on society in general, would be productive of generous laughter. Investigators of the Internal Revenue department recently made the startling discovery that 209 medical preparations contain such a high percentage of intoxicating fluid that they are subject to the liquor tax, although sold for the most part in drug stores.

The list was published July 5th by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and contains nearly one hundred different kinds of "Bitters", about thirty "Tonics" fifteen "Elixirs", the same number of "Cordials", and a miscellaneous assortment of "Liver and Kidney Cures," "La Grippe Specifics", "Cough Cures" and "Dyspepsia Remedies."

The law provides that medicinal preparations which contain alcohol must be sufficiently "medicated" to render them unfit for use as a beverage. Evidently the nostrum manufacturers are overlooking the "medicinal" portion of their bottled goods. Editorially, the Ladies' Home Journal, one of the strongest temperance papers in the country, clarifies the mysteries behind this increase in "cure-alls" and the fluids they contain in this way:

"When three years ago Uncle Sam said to the 'patent medicine' manufacturers, 'You must put on each bottle the amount of alcohol in your medicine, there was strong resentment. Every effort was made to defeat the law. But the law was inexorable and the line '25 per cent alcohol' appeared on various bottles. Every care was, however, taken to have the line appear in as small type as possible. Then a curious change took place. The line '25 per cent alcohol' suddenly appeared in larger type and stuck out prominently on the wrapper. Because the law demanded it? No, the law was the same. The change, curiously enough, came at the same time with the great wave of prohibition throughout the country. To the average mind there would seem to be no special connection here until this significant fact now comes out—that in nearly all the states that have by law recently gone 'dry' the sales of 'patent medicines' having the largest quantity of alcohol in them have increased. In three 'dry' states, for example, the sales of one 'patent medicine' with '50 per cent alcohol' prominently printed on the bottle, have increased MORE THAN TENFOLD IN SIX MONTHS. To use the words of one 'patent medicine' manufacturer, whose nostrum has a generous amount of alcohol in it: 'These states going dry are all right.' And then he laughed comfortably! But that laugh meant no good to the public."
