Local Officials Becoming Used to New Titles—Other Railroad News

Assistant General Manager J. D. Stock, recently promoted and appointed to that position in this state for the O. R. & N., is due to arrive in La Grande tomorrow, for the first official visit under his new duties. He is up on the Washington division today and will return via La Grande.

Local officers are rapidly becoming familiar with the new titles which went into effect yesterday. There are six assistant general managers, but M. J. Buckley is the senior.

Railroad News.
Engine No. 22, the Huntington switch engine and passenger engine No. 199, are still in the shops for general overhauls.

Carloads of cement are being rushed to La Grande for work in building the foundations for the new shops. One carload is here and Contractor Darley has the excavation finished, and Contractor Goodenough, for the Hicks people, is ready to rear the walls as soon as the concrete work is finished.

Forms for the cement foundations were built today.
