THEY are the ones who are not afraid to play against the odds of life. You are running in luck and

Take good care of your relatives and friends and they will get so prosperous that they will snub you.

Most people are proud about an attribute that they ought to be ashamed of.

There are people who are proud about the money that their clothes cost and others who are proud about the money that their clothes didn't cost.

Being good depends almost wholly upon the point of view of the person concerned.

Between the people that it's hard to get along with and those that it's hard to get along without life is pretty strenuous.

During the past three winters at Washington Congressman Ellis has secured appropriations for three fine federal buildings for Oregon cities.

Been honored by being placed on the ranking committee in the House of Representatives—Ways and Means. This is the first time Oregon has ever had a place on this great committee—with the influence it gives.

Been a consistent friend of the "old soldier" having supported every bill introduced in his behalf; secured passage of many private bills for very needy old veterans and their widows; and handled many hundreds of different claims for pensions which were acted on by the pension bureau.

The Second Oregon district stood at or near the head in the sums appropriated in the last House bill for its rivers and harbors. ($1,800,000).

Congressman Ellis has lived in the district over 26 years; he knows the people and what they want and need. He has been in congress ten years, and gained an experience on the floor of the House and in the committee rooms and an acquaintance with the membership of Congress which puts him in a better position to satisfy the needs of Oregon than any new man could be for many years.
