

WALDO PERRY MURDERED

Chester Swackhammer, a medical student performed a post mortem examination this noon, finding two bullets in the body.

W. A. Maxwell is conducting the coroner's examination but while there has been no direct statement to that effect, it is rumored that there will be no verdict until tomorrow, when the family is expected home again.

Had no Known Enemies.

As far as residents of Union are aware, Mr. Perry had no known enemies who might commit the deed. It was not robbery that incited the crime, for the remains had not been touched, evidently, after the bullets had been fired. About $5 in cash and a gold watch were still in the pockets when the body was found.

Mystery Deepens.

The longer the jury probes the matter the more mysterious the incident has become. He frequently complained of tramps coming to his home near the railroad track to ask for a bed and a meal. Some think that tramps had found their way to the place and hid in the garret, and Mr. Perry, perhaps, hearing noises up there, went to investigate with his lamp, only to meet a fusillade of bullets. There is no possible chance for the suicide theory, and as a result the entire affair is veiled in a mystery which will perhaps never be ferreted out.

Perry was employed with the assessor's office at various times for about five years, and occasionally was employed in the sheriff's office.

It is reported from Union this afternoon that Mr. Perry was arranging his business matters to go to Portland to join his family—consisting of a wife and three small children—but was frustrated by the murderer's hand. In the excitement prevailing at Union today nothing has been done in the way of funeral arrangements. The body is so badly decomposed that it will be difficult to conduct a public funeral service.

PORTLAND STRIKE PRECIPITATED

Wheat Dealers Find They Have No Workmen This Morning.

Portland, Sept. 21—One hundred and fifty grain handlers did not show up for work today and say they will stay out until the wage dispute with the shippers is settled. Under the agreement which expired in April, the unionists received 35 cents an hour and fifty cents overtime. Representatives of the Balfour Guthrie company said today they won't ship any more grain from Portland but will ship from Tacoma until the matter is settled.

CRIPPEN BOUND OVER.

Evidence Sufficient to Warrant Further Investigation.

London, Sept. 21—Crippen and Mme. Leneve were today bound over to the Central Criminal court to be tried for the murder of Crippen's wife. The case was set for the October term and Attorney Newton for the defendant offered no defense at the end of the Crown's hearing at Bow street, explaining he preferred to reserve his testimony until the trial. Mme Leneve was hysterical as a result of the mob threatening her today and is in the care of physicians.

BUG HOUSE MAN VISITS FAIR

ADDITIONAL ROOM FOR LIVE STOCK AT ENTERPRISE.

As Fair Date Approaches Arrangements Draw Near Completion.

Enterprise, Ore., Sept. 21—Special—The Seattle "Bug House" man is in Enterprise looking to the construction of this feature for the carnival side of the Fair to be held here beginning next Monday. The "Bug House," sometimes called "Joke House" and sometimes other pertinent titles, is the house of mysteries and constant surprises. The amusement hunting persons enters this deep of unknown things only to bump up against all sorts of harmless encounters, as the visitors to the Chicago world's fair, away back in the Nineties, bumped against surprises in the "Looking Glass" house. Other attractions also are being added to fill out completely the amusement side of the Fair.

From the present indications an enlarged corps of carpenters will be called upon to build additional room for live stock. At present the 1,000 feet of stalls promises to be inadequate, as entries are still piling up and the stalls are practically all taken. Carpenters, however, are being held in readiness, and it is likely that an additional 500 feet of stalls will be built this week. "There is plenty of room," said President A. C. Miller this morning to an Observer man, "to accommodate all the live stock of the surrounding country. And we will build additional sheds just as fast as we need them."

In speaking of the probable attendance from La Grande Mr. Miller said: "Our delegation in the interest of the Fair, sent to La Grande last week, was courteously and enthusiastically met by everybody there. We were treated royally, and I have no doubt that our eastern metropolis, La Grande, will be represented en masse. Wallowa county will surely respond in attendance to La Grande's fair."

Thus far not a "hitch" has occurred to disarrange any of the Fair plans here. And good weather permitting, thousands will attend daily. The city of Enterprise is making preparation to give all these visitors comfortable quarters while here.

Irrigationists in Pueblo.

Pueblo, Colo., Sept. 21—Interest in irrigation is apparently not confined to the west, for many eastern visitors are arriving in Pueblo this week to inspect the displays at the Irrigation Exposition and attend the eighteenth National Irrigation congress. Although the latter does not open until Monday next, scores of delegates are already here. One of the most interesting features of congress will be the discussion of private irrigation enterprises. Millions of barren acres in the semi-arid sections of the country could be made to produce tremendous crops by the installation of irrigation works, thus offering a conservative investment for private capital. Some of the private irrigation schemes worked in the past, however, have been of a wildcat nature, and these will be severely dealt with by the congress.

RICH LOGGER MURDERED.

Well Known Western Timberman Evidently Robbed and Killed.

Seattle, Sept. 21—Detective Captain Tennant declared today that B. Cogger, the Jefferson county lumberman found dead yesterday with his throat cut was doubtlessly murdered. It is believed he was robbed. The widow says the husband made $20,000 yearly by the sale of logs and that he had just drawn a large sum of money from the banks previous to his death.

AUTO CLIMBS FOX HILL.

Local Fans and Indiana Autoist Take Novel Trip in Hills.

A trip was taken by a trio of automobile fans yesterday which has perhaps not been attempted before, when L. C. Smith, D. H. Stewart and Mr. Harding of La Porte, Ind., who has been spending a few days here while touring the west, went over the Fox hill route. They went up the steep Fox hill in the Smith Ford, Model T, went to the sawmill on the hill, over Dixie Flat, then down to Perry and home. The drivers claim this is the first time any automobile ever traversed that territory and mountainous roads.
