DIMICK IS BUILT RIGHT.

In the dispatches yesterday from Oregon City it is related that Jay Bowerman nominee for governor, visited that city and Judge Grant B. Dimmick, who was Bowerman's opponent, escorted Jay around the city and renewed his pledge of loyal support.

There is something decidedly refreshing about Judge Dimmick's action for in this state of free lance politics too many men prominent in politics only think of the scalping knife. It is not so with Dimmick. He went into the fight for governor to honorably win and when he failed he showed the manhood in him by supporting the successful candidate.

As a matter of common knowledge, there were only two candidates in the race for the governorship nomination—Bowerman and Dimmick. Both are good and able men, and had Judge Dimmick been nominated instead of Bowerman the latter's friends would have given him unanimous support.

The manner in which Judge Dimmick views things is far superior to the way some leaders view them. Dimmick says stand by the ticket that was fairly and honorably nominated while some others insist on knifing the man who was chosen by the people.

If Bowerman was not fairly and squarely nominated and if he does not represent the will of "the people" then pray tell what is there to the direct primary law. He was the choice of the people just as much as Chamberlain was the people's choice for senator, so let's line up and get busy.

From Union, Elgin and other parts of the county comes the story of dissatisfaction with the present local option law and the expression is generally given that the people prefer regulation to what is now in existence. It only requires a little reasoning to determine the defects of the present system, while a little stamman and earnestness will regulate liquor in Union county in such a way that protection is assured with a cut-throat protection is assured.

It is now quite natural for every case of dynamiting to be connected with the Harvey Brown incident of Baker City. The latest is the Los Angeles Times tragedy and yesterday's dispatches told of the criminals probably being in eastern Oregon. It made a live story but it will probably be like many other stories since Brown's fearful death, lose itself in a week's time.

To the young people who were married last evening in the pavilion: Here's to your good health, and may you both live long and prosper.

The Levy band of Shetland ponies at the fair is pleasing the children, and when the children are pleased the whole world should smile.

Tonight "Starlight King," the only high school horse in Eastern Oregon, will be the chief attraction at the exposition. He is well trained and is always a favorite with those who see him work. The horse is owned by Dr. Phy of the Hot Lake Sanatorium and the doctor has consented to put the horse through the many acts of the program this evening for the exposition committee.

Remember that apple show at Elgin a little later.

Needs No Lightning Rod. A building 9,000 feet above sea level should be protected by lightning rods, one thinks, but the astronomical observatory at Mount Etna has not and does not need such protection. The observatory is near the summit of the volcano, and the stream of vapor constantly rising from the crater acts as a natural conductor, draining the electricity out of the clouds, so that lightning is seldom seen there.

Accidental Discharge of a Pun. A capital pun may arise by pure accident, as recorded in Bucke's "Book of Table Talk." "A Mr. Alexander Gun was dismissed from a post in the customs of Edinburgh for circulating some false rumor. The dismissal is said to have been thus noted in the customs book at the time: "A. Gun discharged for making a false report."

Black Knowledge. A senator complained of certain false charges that had been made against a company he formerly represented.

"The spirit in which some of these charges were brought," he said, "makes me think of the blackmailer who declared: "Knowledge is power!" "Then, with a wink, he added: "Yes, knowledge is power—if you know it about the right person."

"She's very mannish, don't you think?" "Yes—even rocked the boat when she was out with another girl."—Buffalo Express.
