PEOPLES FORUM.

Ten Reasons.

I presume that there are some reasons for the perpetration of the so called saloon business. People have reasons for their acts. Says the saloon man: the people must have the revenue. I have here ten reasons why the voters of this county should on Nov. 8 vote against the prohibition amendment. The revenue must be obtained for the following reasons:

- To educate the growing generation
- To build and maintain asylums for the outcasts of the saloon.
- To support charitable institutions where the saloon's patrons in the last extremity may obtain help.
- To maintain courts to grant divorces caused by drunkenness.
- To employ policemen to demand order among the liquor traffic's inebriates.
- To lay broad walks over which the saloon's drunken patrons may stagger home.
- To erect jails in order to protect the public from liquor crazed thugs and cutthroats.
- To send to farmers seed grain, the fruit of which is transformed into poisonous liquor which in turn produces shiftless and unworthy workers. To pay $900,000,000 yearly obligation caused by the saloon business. To protect an institution, which says William Gladstone, Premier of England, cost more year after year than war, pestilence and famine combined.
