

BANCROFT PLAN IS TRIED

PROPERTY OWNERS OF ONE BLOCK PAYING ASSESSMENT.

Principal Portion of Adams Avenue Paving to be Assessed next Session.

While the main bulk of street improvement on Adams, Depot and Fir streets has not been assessed and the property owners have not been required to pay for any portion of the paving work already accomplished, the city officers are nevertheless getting a taste of what the Bancroft plan is going to bring about. One block on East Adams avenue near Willow street has been assessed and the property owners as a rule are adopting the Bancroft method of paying for the work. While only one block is being paid for at this time, it does, as stated, indicate what a voluminous amount of work is entailed by the vast amount of improvement under way.

It is presumed that the other portion of Adams avenue will be assessed at the next meeting of council and from then on there will be a constant stream of money coming in to pay for the improvements already done.

COAST CITIES CO-OPERATE

Portland Comes to Aid of Tacoma in Bringing Conventions.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 7 (Special)—As an instance of the way the coast cities are working together to bring conventions west may be cited the campaign waged the past week to aid Tacoma in securing next year's convention of the National Association of Commercial Executives. This organization is now in session in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Secretary Sommers of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce has gone east bearing the official invitation for next year's gathering.

To back up Tacoma's invitation, Portland has sent telegrams to the commercial bodies of the Coast cities calling upon them to help bring the convention to Tacoma and it is expected that each will send messages to the Grand Rapids gathering, urging the delegates to come west next year.

The telegrams were sent out by the Portland Commercial Club and signed by Manager Chapman of the Promotion Committee and Manager Raymond of the Convention Bureau. The messages were sent to every prominent commercial body on the Coast from Los Angeles to Seattle. The messages sent vary with the people addressed but all ask that telegrams be sent to Grand Rapids, urging delegates to bring the next convention to Tacoma.

Los Angeles endorsed Portland for the next meeting place of the convention but Tacoma had already laid her plans for it and Portland gladly waived its claim in favor of its northern neighbor.

The action just taken shows that a united Pacific Coast has become a reality and that a working agreement has been framed whereby the whole will be a powerful machine, running harmoniously for the good of the entire coast.
