

STOREY IN THE CITY TODAY

WILL ADDRESS LARGE AUDIENCE ON THE PROHIBITION QUESTION

"Prohibition is not Temperance" is Theme to be Discussed Tonight.

Pros and cons of local option and prohibition as heard from the rostrum will be commenced tonight in earnest when Hon. Sidney Storey, the distinguished Southern lecturer, whose subject is "Prohibition is not Temperance," will lecture at the Steward opera house. The lecture commences at 8 o'clock and the well-known law maker from New Orleans will doubtlessly be greeted by a large audience. The band will be out and every indication points to a big crowd with the opening of the local option campaign. Several important personages are to lecture on this subject during the coming two weeks, but those interested cannot afford to miss tonight's lecture.

This is a question for the people to decide on November eighth—shall saloons be licensed and well regulated or shall liquor be sold on the blind pig basis. Mr. Storey will argue this question in detail, and his position on the much-mooted problem will be clearly defined, and any person who may or may not have formed an opinion on the question will no doubt be enlightened by what Mr. Storey will say.

For a time a movement was on foot today to have Mr. Storey and Mr. Wilson meet in a debate tonight, but the plan failed, for tonight. The Home Rule association had all its plans made for an address but Mr. Storey did agree to meet Mr. Wilson here or anywhere in a public debate as soon as the present schedule of speeches was over.

Teddy to Explain.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 12.—Col. Roosevelt is expected to do some explaining in his address here tonight before the Knights of Columbus, who are today celebrating Columbus day. The explanation will give the Catholic members of the order the Roosevelt version of the controversy resulting from the decision of the Colonel not to visit the Vatican because of the restrictions placed on his movements by Pope Pius. While here, the distinguished visitor will be the guest of Archbishop Spalding.

Tonight's meeting will be held in the Coliseum. Besides Col. Roosevelt, the list of speakers includes Burke Cochran of New York, Robert Emmott Kane of St. Louis and Robert Henry Little of Chicago. The committee has arranged for over a thousand persons at the banquet which will proceed the speaking. Col. Roosevelt goes from this city to Indianapolis, where he will speak in behalf of Senator Beveridge.

What better car can you want than a Chalmers "30" at $1500.

What more can you buy with any amount of money? You could buy a seven-passenger car, or you could buy more power. That is all. If you want a seven-passenger car, all right. As for more power, you can get it if you want to pay for it, but you do not need it on any car not carrying more than five.

What more do you want, then, in a car, than you can get in the Chalmers?

WOULD BE PLEASED TO HAVE YOU CALL AT OUR GARAGE AND WE WILL BE WILLING TO SHOW YOU THE GOOD QUALITIES.

TWO TEAMS TO CONTEST

SATURDAY STRONG SECOND TEAM MEETS FIRST.

Annual Event in Local School History Will be Well Attended.

The first and second teams of the La Grande high school will play football at the ball park next Saturday. This game between the first and second teams has become an annual event and is rapidly gaining in popularity. Two years ago the first team after a long and hard struggle, defeated the scrubs, as the second team is termed, by a score of 2 to 0. This was pronounced by the spectators to have been one of the fastest games played on the local gridiron that year. Last year the first team secured four touchdowns against the second team. But this year the second team appears to be fully equal to the first except in weight. Many believe the scrubs will give the first team the run of its life and as the contestants will all have their friends on hand, the game will be unusually interesting. The crowd too is expected to be large.

Back to the Grind.

School days! Oh, yes! Hot stuff! And well enough for the jay who sees them from far away And traces Only the high places Where he hit On his fit From entrance time To the heights sublime, Where on the rostrum proud he stood And sawed wood Right in the public eye, High Above the common herd, And spoke the word That, needed, would set things right On graduation night The petty troubles he forgets, Lets Them slip away into forgetfulness, And lays no stress On the weary day, Now far away, When he almost went into a decline Trying to prove that four and three were nine, And, say, Locating Bath's bay Is no snap If you can't find it on the map! And getting grammar right Is a pure delight, Provided a pretty girl is near To whisper in your ear If she can look In the book When the teacher's eye Is watching Johnny Jones kill a fly, Yes, we praise School days When toward the hazy past We cast A retrospective eye; but, like as not, It's different on the spot, Ask the kid.

Humor and Philosophy

By SUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

ANYBODY who can't understand our way of looking at things is sure to have some sort of a kink in the running gear of his thought machine.

The thinking people who don't tell what they think are often very kind to us thereby.

A man may be fond of a fool when it is himself, but hates to be told of it.

Small troubles are the sort that other people have.

If you want to know just about how much ice you really cut, get an estimate from the man who doesn't like you.

The disturber of the peace is the one who always gets attention.

If you don't like to do it, don't make the mistake of thinking that you do it well.

The man who doesn't enjoy being ashamed of himself is likely to keep out of touch with questionable things.

No Self Conceit.

"I am going to do one thing to make people happy."

"Are you?"

"I am determined upon it."

"What is it?"

"Live to a great age."

"Huh! Nothing conceited about you!"

"No; just think how happy they will all be when I finally shuffle!"

Married a Count.

"Why are you looking so downcast, Ethel?"

"I have a lot of domestic unhappiness, Maud."

"Have you?"

"Yes, and I hear that you have the same."

"Not quite the same."

"No;" mine is foreign."

Some Compliment.

"How deep are the falls?" asked the inquisitive woman.

"I don't know, madam; I never fell over them."

"I should think there would be an easier way than that for a muscular person like yourself to find out."

"How would you suggest?"

"You might swim up them."

No Handicap.

"Are you going to the beaches this summer?"

"No, my dear fellow."

"Aren't you?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Deah me! Don't you know I come of an old and aristocratic family?"

"Oh, well, they won't hold that against you there!"

Cautious.

The price that the storeman pay is high enough, it's safe to say. He does not aim to lose, we hope, A million on a cake of soap.

Cold Storage.

"You say he is a very religious man?"

"Very."

"I never noticed any religion about him."

"Didn't you?"

"No; I wonder where he keeps it."

"At the church."

Jap Was Operated On.

A local member of the Japanese colony underwent an operation at the hospital last evening wherein one of his eyes was removed by Doctor Hall. The young man has been ailing for some time and the removal was necessary. However it was not "Frank" the secretary of the local colony.

Representatives of the railroads allege that the increases are absolutely necessary to the preservation of the financial stability of the lines involved, and that failure to sanction the rate advance would speedily result in placing several systems in the hands of receivers.

Organizations of railroad employes favor the proposed new rates, alleging that they would be the first to suffer if the roads were forced to adopt a policy of retrenchment.

Various organizations of shippers are on hand to oppose the increases. The necessity of paying dividends on watered stock, allege the shippers, is the real reason for the increases. They declare that the present rates would afford big dividends upon an honest capitalization.
