

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No La Grande Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

Danger Signal No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

Danger Signal No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here is proof in the statement of a nearby resident.

John Torongo, Cracker St. Sumpter, Oregon, says: "Last spring my kidneys were disordered and I began to suffer from backache. I noticed that the kidney secretions were highly colored and painful in passage and I thus knew that my kidneys were at fault. The use of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills toned up my kidneys and caused the backache to cease. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ROMANCE ENDS IN MARRIAGE

PENDELETON ROUND UP NOT WITHOUT ITS SENTIMENTAL SIDE.

Portland Girl Carried Away by Cowboy in Shy Ann Fashion.

"Love is all and all is love", says the Pendleton East Oregonian. What matters whether it is forbidden fruit denied to a yearning heart under penalty of direful consequences or whether the way of its fulfillment leads to the abnegation of family and friends and separation from them forever? What is worth its price and on the consecrated altar of the divine passion, nothing is too dear for the sacrifice.

Such was no doubt the tenor of the thoughts which have recently been chasing through the brain cells of Miss Mary Kluckis that was, Mrs. Harry B. Inman that is, erstwhile of Portland, but now of the range and cow camps of eastern Oregon, and such thoughts undoubtedly justified her in the course she was compelled to take. She arrived in Pendleton yesterday morning and before the sun had sunk below the western sky line she had taken the conclusive step in her severance of the past by becoming a party to a union-born of love and legalized by a licence and a vow. The other factor in this new wedding was none other than Harry B. Inman, cowboy, range rider and broncho buster by profession, attracted to Pendleton by the fame of the round up and who incidentally was a valuable assistant of Sheriff Taylor in scouring the country for unridable "outlaws."

The romance, of which this wedding yesterday was the culmination, is not one of the tame, ordinary ones which characterize this modern age, but savored more of the times when young Lochinvar and his kind made song stuff for the immortal bards. It involves a picturesque horse tamer, a hero-worshipping maiden, a jilted sister and an irate father, with the chubby love god and his magic arrows more or less in evidence. The affair began over two years ago when the first mentioned quit his job at "skinning six" and made his way to Portland to call upon a lady with whom he was infatuated to a certain extent. Driving up to the home place, unannounced, he was disappointed to find the girl of his dreams absent, but met a younger sister whom he induced to occupy the other seat in the buggy. Thus did Cupid begin the weaving of the mesh which was soon to entangle them beyond the possibility of extrication. That first ride was followed by a second, and a third, and others in rapid succession. The sister was forgotten and soon vanished from the mind and heart of this dashing cowboy. The old love was eclipsed by the new and when Inman went back to the range the betrothal was made and he took with him a promise and sweet remembrances.

Two years passed by and the two did not meet again but both still remained true. There might have been no immediate culmination had not the young lady noticed in the papers the achievements of her rough-rider lover at the Round-up, and her heart filled with pride, she sent him notice of her intention of joining him at once. This is the moment at which the father plays his part in the drama. Learning of her proposed flight, he made forcible seizure of her trunks, clothes and cash. However, he had yet to learn that "where there's a will there's a way" and likewise that love laughs at obstacles, for, with the assistance of a rain coat and a pawn shop, the lady secured the necessary paraphernalia to secure her passage to Pendleton and joined her swain yesterday morning.

Attired in all the trappings of a story book cowboy and cow girl, the couple mounted their steeds and, like Shy Ann and her lover of the song, dashed through the streets and up to the Methodist parsonage where Rev. Nathan Evans performed the ceremony which formally embarked them upon the sea of conjugal felicity. They will leave tomorrow on a horseback honeymoon trip to Prineville and the Three Sisters, but promise to lend their presence to the success of the second annual Round-up.
