COMMISSIONER OF GENERAL LAND OFFICE REVERSED.

This Completes Good Record of Local Officers—Local People Lose.

A sweeping victory for the homestead claimants as against the timber claimants in one of the last and one of the most widely discussed and closely contested contests arising out of the township opening in the Fall of 1908, when "four-north-forty-one" was opened, was promulgated from the local land department, upholds the decisions of the local land office, the opinions in which were written by Receiver Eberhard. In the cases of Asa Bursell vs. Joe P. Montag and Helen Jellison and of Harvey Bursell vs. Nellie Vinacke, of La Grande, Oregon, which decision the Commissioner of the General Land Office previously had reversed. Under the decisions of the local office and the highest departmental authority, the timber people get all their claims not claimed by the Bursell boys, the settlers.

The point to the decision here, which has been finally and irrevocably affirmed, is that the Bursells were actual settlers, within the meaning and intent of the homestead laws, and that the fact that they claimed parts of more than one technical legal subdivision was immaterial, where the adverse claimants were not actual settlers, claiming title to the same land by prior settlement.

Perhaps no recent event at the local land office has been the cause of more conflicts and contests than has the opening to settlement and filing of the one last remaining surveyed township in Wallowa county. One man would claim to settle upon four forty acre tracts and it might happen that timber claimants would include each one of these forty acre tracts in a timber claim. If the timber man got his filing in first, the homesteader protested it; and every conceivable form of contests, protests and adverse interests was raised for the consideration of the local land office. For the first seven months after the opening the Register of the local land office, Hon. F. C. Bramwell, passed on practically no other kind of contests and he has the record of never having been finally reversed to date in a single case involving any matter in this township. Since April 17, 1909, the time when Receiver C. R. Eberhard took office, he has written several opinions in matters arising out of this opening and with this present strong affirmation, he, too, has a record of no reversals in such cases. In this connection, it may be stated that the usual practice of Register Bramwell and Receiver Eberhard in contest cases is to each to take a bunch of cases, and separately decide the same by preparing a written opinion, which is submitted to the other for approval. In this way a decision is said to be made by one or the other.

Granges to Meet.

The Union County Pomona Grange will meet with Crystal Grange of Imbler on Saturday, October 29. The program will include the discussions of several of the important questions to be voted on the coming election.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often cause sudden attacks of diarrhoea, and it is best to be prepared.
