Summary of Innings.

Athletics	12	5	0
Dubs	1	2	0

Chicago, Oct. 20—Rain for a time indicated this morning that Philadelphia and Chicago would not fight it out for the third game of the world's championship series today, but the skies cleared enough for Connie Mack's bunch to wallopp the Cubs for the third consecutive time and by a mere decisive score than ever before. Coombs pitched steady ball with one exception for Philadelphia, but the Chance outfit stuck in several twirlers. Reulbach started it but was displaced by McIntyre who in turn was battered out of the grounds and Pfeister finished for the Cubs.

Undiscouraged however, many fans stayed up all night to secure places in the bleachers by the time the gates opened. Hundreds from Philadelphia are here and offered odds of two to one. The betting was heavy and Chicago was well drained of spare coin tonight.

The story of the erratic game follows:

Started to rain at this point. Murphy hit a home run scoring Baker and Davis ahead of him. Wraugling followed the umpire's decision of the home run sailing over the crowd. Chance kicked so hard he was benched. Archer took first base. Pfeister succeeded McIntyre. Barry doubled. Archer dropped Tinker's throw of Thomas' grounder, and Barry scored. Coombs hit into double play. Zimmerman to Tinker to Archer.

PROTECT MIGRATORY BIRDS.

Action Taken at Portland to Protect Birds During Bad Weather.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 20 (Special)—Federal protection for migratory birds during their flights must be had if these feathered creatures are not to be exterminated, says William L. Finley, of Portland, a widely known ornithologist. Mr. Finley is a bird authority whose researches have been prosecuted from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as well as abroad. He is a lecturer for the National Association of Audubon societies of New York city.

He favors the establishment of government or state reservation that shall be retreats for wild birds. These areas, he suggests, may be established on private estates where the owners are willing and placed in charge of good gamekeepers who shall prohibit all shooting. Song and game birds, he believes, will thus become abundant in these refuges and will spread out and populate the surrounding country.

Mr. Finley has just returned from California, where he visited the state game farm at Haywards. There he found the state has gone into the business of raising pheasants, which are furnished to farmers and others for propagation, the young being liberated in favorable places throughout the state.

CRIPPEN AWARE OF WIRELESS MESSAGES SAILING OVER HUDSON BAY

HE AND LENEVE BOTH REALIZED THEY WERE BEING WATCHED WHILE ABOARD.

DEFENSE OPENS CASE TODAY

Montrose's Quartermaster Was in League With Crippen and Offered to Aid in Smuggling Doctor Ashore—Crippen and His Companion Both Refused to Listen to the Offers—Suicide Letter Written as Blatant Aim to Prove Innocence.

London, Oct. 20—The defense of Dr. Crippen began this afternoon. Barrister Tobin, Crippen's counsel, said Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve both gave themselves to the authorities voluntarily. He said Crippen was aware he was being watched and that every plan and wireless message regarding him was told to him by the ship's quartermaster and that the quartermaster offered to smuggle him ashore but he refused and stayed on board the Montrose.

The suicide letter found on Crippen, the counsel said, was written by the doctor to prevent a search of the vessel had he decided to hide and be smuggled from the Montrose when she arrived at Quebec.

The prosecution closed the case in the forenoon. Barrister Tobin opened the case by saying his intention was to prove to the court's satisfaction that the body in the basement of Crippen's home was not Mrs. Crippen's.

LINE UP THIS MONTH UNLIKELY

Circumstances attending unto the Wallowa land opening, settlement of which is permissible at midnight tomorrow, indicate that there will be no lineup at the La Grande land office, and if there is a lineup, it will be short-lived and inclusive of only a few. On the other land, the land that is to be thrown open to settlement day after tomorrow is going to be dotted with settlers—some are already there and have been for some time.

This status of affairs is due principally to the new orders of the government. It has been the custom to visit the desired tract, and then rush to the land office to be the first in line to file. This time it is vastly different and the man who settles after tomorrow midnight, has all the time he wants. The routine which the government has laid down is for the applicant to settle on the land after the 21st of October and to stay on the land desired until November 22. From that date he has thirty days to file, and any person having filed on that land without settlement will be relegated by the affidavit of the second homesteader alleging that he has lived on the land 30 days.

As between two men who have not settled but are anxious to have the land, the man who is first in the land office on the 21st of November is given preference. If, however, it is found that a third party has settled on the

OVER A HUNDRED PLATES

New Wilson Hotel Takes Care of Guests in a Way That Pleases All—Many Speeches Delivered That Sparked with Enthusiasm and Patriotism—Union Plans Campaign for Coming Year—Local Conditions Freely Discussed.

One of the best meetings of the kind ever held in Eastern Oregon was the Commercial club banquet at Union last evening when over a hundred residents of that city and surrounding territory met at the New Wilson hotel and partook of an elegant banquet daintily served. An intelligent bunch of men as ever congregated around those tables and used their minds in deep thought in an endeavor to suggest something of benefit to the town on Catherine Creek.

Postmaster Marion Davis presided as toastmaster and as usual he made things run smoothly, calling on many and always having something of a pleasant nature to offer in the way of introduction.

Osborn Richins in his address on "Looking Forward" dealt with what can be made to happen. He did not dream as many might of the towering smokestacks and a lot more things that might be very hard to obtain, but he took up the possibilities of the soil, of irrigation, of lumbering and made a strong plea for Union men to get into the game and try. L. R. Campbell talked on stock raising and he gave out some good sense relative to that industry. "Improve your herds," shouted the speaker, "and the eastern pork will be driven from the coast market. The trouble with the men of the west they do not finish their product and then expect it to compete with eastern stock that have had the benefit of skilled care and plenty of feed."

J. W. Ethington talked on the Uses of Commercial Organizations. He told how people are attracted to a community by the well organized commercial club. Picturing a man who has sold out his holdings in one commun-
