A PROBLEM IN ETHICS.

The Oregonian editorially remarks: Oswald West, Railroad Commissioner, went to Washington City, ostensibly on the state's business, and charged up $253 to the state for expenses and mileage.

instances have the walking bootleggers. Near beer is a western expression and a western product. In Kansas it was hop tea and instead of having saloons they have "joints."

The doctor also gives a good reason why laws are not better enforced when he states he is no spy and does not pry around seeking evidence.

As to officials shirking their duty and violating their oath, we have heard it all of our lives. Democrats used to make it a campaign issue in Kansas year after year.

In Oregon it is almost impossible to dig a post hole without violating some statute. The prohibitory law is not the only one that is continually being violated.

Every law in the land should be enforced by all means, but we as a people should use better judgment in manufacturing laws.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS SEEMS CERTAIN.

From the governor down the line to the office of coroner in Union county it is apparent that republicans will be elected. The reason for this is that good men have been chosen for the places.

Union county is in splendid shape financially due to the careful management of the business affairs of the county by a competent county court.

THE FRENCH DUEL

Tricks That Are Invoked to Make the Meeting Bloodless.

A French paper has been describing the various contrivances to insure pistol duels ending in "coffee for two."

Sometimes the wad is intentionally left out, so that when the duelists face each other with the pistols held downward the bullets roll out.

Again, well meaning seconds sometimes use the right bullets and the right charge, but stiffen the triggers so that the extra pressure causes the bullets to go wide.

A Drop in Rhetoric. "I remember," said an official of the East Indian service, "the speech of an Anglo-Indian who was delegated by a certain district to place before the government's notice the horrible slaughter of their stock by tigers."

"Mr. Chairman, the tiger is the most ferocious animal that prowls and runs at large in India. He creeps from his lurking place at the hour of midnight, when all nature is locked in the arms of Morpheus, and ere the portals of the east are unbound or bright Phoebus rises in his golden majesty whole litters of pigs are destroyed."

The Cat and the Tail. Once upon a time a cat who prided herself on her wit and wisdom was prowling about the barn in search of food and saw a tail protruding from a hole.
