

For Over Three Decades.

Foley's Honey and Tar has been a reliable household medicine and the "children's children" find it today the same safe and sure remedy for coughs and colds that their grandfathers did. Mahala Stockwell, Hannibal, Missouri, writing under date of August 28, 1910, has this to say about this great medicine. "I have recently used for the first time Foley's Honey and Tar Cough medicine. To say that I am pleased with it does not half express my feelings. It is by far the best I ever used. I had contracted a bad cold and was nearly sick in bed, having a terrible headache as well as a cough and was threatened with pneumonia. I used but one bottle of your Foley's Honey and Tar and was completely cured. It beats all the remedies I ever used and I have used many different kinds."

Some Observations.

A cause that needs to be bolstered up by misrepresentation and falsehood is in a bad way. A speaker who makes as many palpable mis-statements as Rose did Sunday night will hardly be believed in anything he says.

When Rose said there was flagrant and open violation of the prohibition law in Topeka he was telling what is untrue. I was at Topeka in June and I know about conditions. Gov. Stubbs says he has not seen a drunken man in Topeka in the last twelve months. Mayor Green of Topeka says the prohibition laws are rigidly enforced there and that the result is very gratifying to all.

What Rose said about conditions in the southern prohibition states is also a product of his imagination. The governors of Mississippi, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, the Mayor and President and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta, the chief of police of Knoxville, Tenn., Senator Carmack of Tennessee, Judge Speer of Georgia and a host of others declare the contrary of what Rose said. The Atlanta Georgian speaking of the third anniversary of the passage of the prohibitory law of Georgia said:

"It has fed wives and children and prevented many of them from becoming widows and orphans. In the aggregate it has added tremendously to the peace and quiet of the state. Economy, wealth and happiness have been its products." Will you believe these men or the man whose administration as mayor of Milwaukee Mr. England in the October Review of L. J. Jew's says was "sic. vely cor. a. r."

He was no more truthful about Maine, Blaine in his day, Senators Hale and Frye, Congressman Powers, Gov. Cobb, Drew, former speaker of the house of representatives and multitudes of others testify to the very opposite of what the man whose administration as mayor of Milwaukee left a deficit of $250,000 because of graft and mismanagement. Read the article of the October Review of Reviews and see. And then the facts contradict his statements. In 1900 Maine had more banks and twenty millions more money in them than Ohio with six times its population. Over half the people live in their own homes. One to every 3.2 citizens is a bank depositor, while Wisconsin with better facilities for accumulating wealth, except that it has thousands of saloons, has only one bank depositor to each 123.5 of its inhabitants. Does that say that prohibition has been a failure?

And when Rose said that prohibition has been a failure everywhere he is contradicted by all these men to whom I have already referred and by Gov. Stubbs and more than two hundred of the mayors, chiefs of police and judges of Kansas, and many other of the leading men in all the walks of life except the liquor business. And some of these fellows are honest enough to say that prohibition has interfered with their business.

When Rose recited the fairy tale about the fabulous sums of money that had been contributed by Rockefeller and the Peruna company to the Anti-Saloon League he was making it out of the whole cloth. I wish those parties would pour money into the work to close the saloons. It would be the best use of their money that has ever been made. If we had the money liquor people are expending in this campaign through the Home Rule Association we could hold meetings in public halls and whoop it up like they do.

How logical Rose was! It seems he was convincing to a fellow whose mind is clouded by the fumes of liquor. He could not see how any one could fail to be convinced. Well, here is the logic. Rose spent about an hour trying to show that more liquor is drunk under prohibition than under license, and then he followed that by a howl about the loss of revenue to the national government if we adopted prohibition. That is logic that convinces the liquorite. Rose and the fellow he convinced must have had a good deal of the stuff that dethrones reason.

Rose was very much chagrined to find that the men of Oregon have not the brazenness effrontery and shamelessness that he has. In Cottage Grove no one would either go on the platform with him or introduce him. In La Grande at 6 o'clock, I was told, no one was yet found to introduce the speaker. I do not know at what hour it was decided to permit the men who were on the platform to do the honors for the Rose that some people says "smells to heaven." And at the close of the address one man from the audience shook hands with him! Good for La Grande and Oregon.

Coal on the Way.

Word has been received by the Grande Ronde Cash company today that the shipment of one carload of coal which reached here today is the forerunner of a large shipment and that the coal supply will be good for a time at least.
