NEED OF VINEGAR FACTORY SEEN

EASTERN EDITOR MEETS WITH LOCAL FRUITMEN LAST NIGHT.

Co-operation in Marketing Products Discussed at Some Length.

Last night a number of the best fruit growers in the valley met at the commercial club rooms to talk over the marketing of apples. Mr. Sherwood Williams called the meeting to order. J. M. Allen, special representative of the Fruit Grower was present and talked on co-operation of growers on the marketing of their fruit. Mr. Allen says that by co-operation the fruit growers of southwest Missouri and northwest Arkansas have been able to raise the price on strawberries alone from eighty cents net per crate to two dollars and fifty cents per crate net. This he says has been done within the last five or six years. Mr. Allen says: "Prior to our organization we were the victims of produce crooks all over the country. This is now entirely eliminated. We would flood one market with goods while another would be entirely bare. This has been eliminated. Senator P. A. Rogers, the manager of the Ozark Fruit Growers Association knows at the close of business hours just how many cars of fruit was loaded in the Ozark country that day. Most of the goods sold while rolling. Mr. Rogers protects all buyers by not permitting a glut in any one market. "With a full crop, southwest and northwest Arkansas would market ten thousand cars of fruit. I know this appears immense. But when you figure that Benton county, Arkansas, alone has seven million five hundred thousand and apple trees in bearing condition and Benton county is only a small part of the Ozark fruit belt, the above figures are extremely conservative. "How would we market them? If necessary to Europe. Again we know the markets all over the United States and Old Mexico. Mr. Rogers is also familiar with European markets. "Our vinegar plants and evaporators use up thousands of bushels of low grade apples. "Right here I want to make the suggestion to growers. By all means get your vinegar factory to use up all your by products. You had just as well be getting thirty or forty cents per bushel for your low grade apples as to let them rot on the ground. Right here in this valley I have seen thousands of dollars worth of apples rotting on the ground. Every bushel of this fruit could be saved by a good vinegar factory."

Stage Driver Alleges Holdup.

Driver Beeson of the Sparta stage reported to the authorities that he was held up near Keating yesterday by two highwaymen on horses. He said they fired shots at him, but that he escaped by whipping up the horses and leaving them behind. The local officers communicated with the Keating authorities with orders to investigate the matter. They sent word back that there were no traces of the alleged holdup, and that in the vicinity of the supposed attack, there was no evidence that any affair of the kind had happened.—Baker City Democrat.
