When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels.

"The Grey Dove" First Night.
Commencing Monday, Nov. 7th, Miss Laura Winston will open an engagement at the Stewart theatre for a week changing plays nightly. The first of the series is a comedy, the Grey Dove, a piece well calculated to please even the grouchy man who has not smiled in years. There is a laugh in every line in every act, yet absolutely nothing but good clean wholesome fun of the kind which causes those attending the performance to go home with smiles and a feeling of good-fellowship, with a desire to spend another evening with such companionable players.

Miss Winston will make you laugh even if you never knew how before. Her own laugh is spontaneous, wholesome and infectious you just can't help joining in with her—see if you can. Not only is Miss Winston magnetic in her laughter but equally so in her manner of presenting the character she represents with such consummate ease and naturalness that one forgets it is acting, feels in truth the character is a living, breathing being—and it is.

In buying a cough medicine, don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough.

Humor and Philosophy
By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

IF the average person worked only when he felt like it the world would starve before Christmas.

The man who is miserable because a black cat crossed his path Friday always did hate cats anyway, so he excuses himself for his superstition.

Marrying seems to be a religion with some people.

The spider which tried seven times in succession isn't in it with the exploiter who scents a rich graft.

Getting away with a lie would be a much simpler matter if it were not for the numerous persons who are always around keeping tab.

There is no more ridiculous spectacle than to see a slow, stupid man trying to be a sport.

The Book of Nature.
At times of books I weary,
For reading makes me full
Of twisted, warped ideas
Not ripe enough to pull,
And then I turn to nature,
Its pages bright to scan,
Or in the crowded city
I read the book of man.

The sprightly printed pages
Present in full to me
A very fine idea
Of life as it should be,
But in the other volume
That men before me act
I get life stripped and naked
And as it is in fact.

The very fine romances.
The tale of love's young dream,
May start off with some trouble,
But end with pie and cream.
In life the paint and powder
Are very apt to rub,
The dainty little maiden
May finish at a tub.

Between the frames and covers
In fiction and in art
You get a race of people
Who live a life apart,
But in the book of nature,
Where truth on facts must wait
For all of its adornments,
They give it to you straight.

The Reward of Perseverance.
"Where is little Willie?"

"Alas, he has gone from us!"
"How did it happen?"
"He found an old revolver."
"Yes?"
"And he tried to shoot it off."
"Yes?"
"But it would not work."
"Well?"
"So he tried, tried, tried again."

Striking an Average.

"Why does a handsome man always marry a homely woman?"
"For two reasons."
"What are they?"
"One is because he wants all the compliments that come to the family."
"And the other?"
"Because he wants to even things up."

Neutral.

"Who goes there, friend or foe?"
"Neither."
"You must be one or the other."
"Not necessarily. Why should I be your friend? I can't borrow any money from you. And why should I be your foe? I don't owe you any money."

Little Else.

A London attorney named Else, rather diminutive in his stature and not particularly respectable in his character, once met Jekyll. "Sir," said he, "I hear you have called me a pettifogging scoundrel. Have you done so, sir?"
"Sir," said Jekyll, with a look of contempt, "I never said you were a pettifogger or a scoundrel, but I said you were 'little Else.'"—Westminster Gazette.

They Felt Hungry.

She—Well, Clarence, dear, the situation is not quite as rosy as it was pictured to us before marriage, is it?
He—Well, not all together so, love.
She—I wish—er—I wish— He—What do you wish, dearest? She—I wish we had the rice and the old shoes they threw at us when we were married.

He Lumped It.

"My coffee is not quite sweet enough," remarked he.
"Well, if you don't like it, I suppose you'll have to lump it," said she, with a smile, passing the loaf sugar his way.

Fixed For the Future.

Friend—Haven't you named the baby yet?
Proud Mother—No; we must be very careful to give him a nice one, because there will be so many named after him when he is president.

FIRST-CLASS LAUNDRY WORK

If you are not a customer of Cherry's New Laundry we urge you to give us a trial. We guarantee all work to be satisfactory and will re-laundry any article not so found or cheerfully refund your money.

We want to build up a home laundry employing American labor, which will be a credit to the town. We merely ask a chance to prove that we can satisfy you. Can't you grant that much?

All work called for and promptly delivered. There is enough laundry work in La Grande to keep a good sized force busy and keep the money at home. Are you a booster for home industry? We are now comfortably housed in our new building, just a few steps from Fir st. We are safe from dust and dirt and are easily found if you want to carry a bundle down town. But we'll gladly call in our wagon.
