

ENTRYMEN FORM LINEUP; MORE ON WAY

NEWS FROM INTERIOR THAT BANDS OF ENTRYMEN ARE COMING, HASTENS IT.

OPENING NEXT MONDAY

Interest in Coming Land Office Opening Next Monday Quickens as Seventeen Form in Line at Land Office This Morning—Crowds Coming From John Day and The Will Grow Rapidly After This Evening Is Belief.

Telephone messages from the interior of Oregon that two bands of timber and stone entrymen—intent on filing on land eliminated by presidential proclamation and to be filed on at the La Grande land office next Monday at 9 o'clock—are headed for La Grande and will probably reach here this evening, suddenly precipitated a lineup of seventeen timber and stone men this morning and they are now holding their respective positions awaiting the opening of the door. The proverbial lineup of homesteaders is eliminated this year through the rulings of the department that the man who settles on his prospective tract for thirty days ending next Monday morning, has thirty days in which to file. However, the timber and stone entrymen are different and the lineup which will become materially enlarged when the John Day delegations reach here, who will be entirely lumbermen.

The men and boys now holding down positions, were in La Grande for several days and when, this morning, news of the invasion of La Grande by John Day delegations under two different cruisers, the line was hastily formed and it is supposed the tardy ones will drop in behind tonight or tomorrow morning. A few in line now seek Wallowa land, but the majority are after Grant county tracts.

Race Will Probably be Monday.

It is probable that some tall racing will take place immediately after Sunday at midnight. If there are two entrymen seeking the same piece of land and both have lived on it during the thirty days as required, both have equal chances for title, and the one filing first is recognized. Such being the case it is believed that there will be some lively hustling from Grant, Baker and Wallowa counties Monday. Where only one man is settled on a tract, he has thirty days in which to reach the land office to file.

The men now in the lineup here are under the cruisership of D. C. Brischoux, who is looking after their personal interests in the way of keeping them as comfortable as possible.

Washington, November 19—Knowledge of a gigantic conspiracy to start a revolution in Mexico is causing the state department much worry today. From authoritative sources it is learned today that evidence of a plot has been discovered in four border states and so far had the plans progressed that the revolutionists were ready to start for Mexico City to capture it. The revolutionary leaders are in Virginia, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas but are under surveillance. One official declared today that the United States is determined not to allow any infraction of the neutrality laws. He said, "And government forces in Mexico have been working secretly for a long time to overthrow Diaz. Their plan is to gather their forces on this side of the border, and then march across Mexico to Mexico City. While Texas is ostensibly the home of the revolution it was learned today that New Mexico and Arizona were equally populated by Mexicans. At a signal from the leaders, it is said, thousands of men from the United States side at least ten thousand from northern Mexican towns are ready to take the field. Campbell is Precarious.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 19—Governor Campbell today ordered the entire force of Texas rangers to proceed to the Mexican border and to break up armed bands of Mexicans forming. It is believed, to revolt in Mexico.

Governor Campbell announced he would patrol ever section of the border between Texas and Mexico. The order followed the receipt of confirmed information that armed bands of Mexicans were gathering and that Americans feared an invasion. According to advices received, about 100

Mexicans are encamped in small bands along the Rio Grande.

According to advices received from Eagle Pass and Del Rio, the Mexicans began a concentrated movement across the river and Americans hastily spread the alarm and soon the ranchmen and cowboys were gathered awaiting a hostile move.

Instead of marching into the American towns the Mexicans are reported to have begun a concentration on the Mexican side, possibly preparatory to the revolutions.

The Yale blue and Harvard Crimson was the color in the Elm City today. Harvard is touted as having the strongest team of the east while Yale has the weakest team it has turned out in years.
