"After all, you know, there is room for both men and women in this world. Men have their work to do, and women have theirs. It is the woman's work to provide for the inner man, and it is the man's to provide for the outer woman."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Her hobble skirt she wore today. Alas, she tripped! I turned my head the other way. When something ripped. —Detroit Free Press.

"Conductor?" "Yes, madam." "Let me off at that pretty cloud."—Woman's Home Companion.

The horsefly sat at the side of the road. And watched the autos go whizzing by. He disapproved of the modern mode. And "Stung!" was the cry of the equine fly. For a horseless fly's like a wireless wire. And there's not much food in the tireless tire. —Cleveland Leader.

"Scotch mixtures will be popular this fall," observed the dressy man. "To wear or to drink?" asked the man with the impressionistic nose.—Philadelphia Record.

When you'd grow powerful or rich Remember as you stray Some one may write his memoirs, which Will give you dead away. —Washington Star.

"Is he lazy?" "I would hardly say that. You've heard the expression "unseemly haste?" "Why, certainly!" "Well, all haste looks that way to him."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Maud Muller sat upon the porch. And watched each automobile scorch. The judge went by just like a shot. But she—she recognized him not. All kinds of pomp and show to her. Was wearisome. She could not stir. Time was when she was poor, but now A queenly calm was on her brow. And judge of any wealthy lay. She simply spurned them every day.

Maud's father was a farmer who Knew just exactly what to do. He wasn't of the old third rate. But was alive and up to date. He cut his crop of hay and sold It for almost its weight in gold. And that is why Maud was so proud. And felt above the country crowd. —Boston Herald.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

When your feet are wet and cold, and your body chilled through and through from exposure, take a big dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, bathe your feet in hot water before going to bed, and you are almost certain to ward off a severe cold. For sale by all dealers.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.
