Around on Crutches Again.

severe injuries in an accident at his stone crushing plant some time ago and who has been in the hospital recovering a broken leg, is able to be out again to day and John is highly delighted. With work piled high he has chafed under the delay occasioned by the accident and hopes to be able to go to work shortly.

The Talipot Palm of Ceylon.

The talipot palm of Ceylon has gi-gantic fanlike leaves, which when fully expanded form a nearly complete circle thirteen feet in diameter. Large fans made of them are carried before people of rank among the Cingalese.
They are also commonly used as umbrellas, and tents are made by neatly joining them together. They are used as a substitute for paper, being written upon with a stylus. Some of the sacred books of the Cingalese are composed of strips of them.

The Modest Hunter.

"Can you show me any bear tracks?"
asked the amateur Nimrod.
"I kin show you a bear," the native replied.
"Thanks, awfully, old chap. Tracks will suffice."—Pittsburg Post.

Enthusiasm.

Anxious Messenger—Say, fireman, there's another fire broken out up the street. New Recruit—All right, old chap; keep her going till we've finished this one.—Punch.

Not Always.

"Does your wife always insist on talking to you when you are shaving?"
"No. Sometimes I shave when she is away from home."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Mails.

When does a crime become punishable? When it is committed by mail.
The mail is the most sacred thing known to the United States government except itself. Nothing but treason surpasses in egregiousness the misuse of the mails. So far as the federal authorities are concerned, one may steal, gamble and murder so long as it is not done by correspondence. Do ye whatsoever ye will one unto another, but do not write it down and stick a stamp on the upper right hand corner, for if ye do then in truth will all the demons of justice be unloosed upon your trail.—Life.

Startled the Natives.

Herrera, the Spanish historian, says that Pizarro when he landed in South America owed his life and those of his companions to the fact that one of the party fell off his horse by accident.
The natives had succeeded in cutting off the retreat of the Spaniards to their ships, when one of the riders was thrown. The Indians were so astonished at the dissolution of partnership that they took flight at once.
They had supposed horse and man to be one animal.

An Inference.

Rose—Why don't you pop in and have a game of bridge sometimes?
Violet—Oh, well, you see—er—I've become a bit of a recluse lately. Rose—How much do you owe?—Illustrated Bits.

Thrifless.

"Did she marry the man who rescued her?"
"Yes, and now she's discovered that her life was the only thing he ever saved."—Detroit Free Press.
