To call this evidence the jury gave wrapt attention and it may have considerable weight when the time comes for a general summing up of the trial. Biggs Was not Sure.

A witness by the name of Biggs had probably the hardest time of any one when he was called to give expert testimony, yet would not swear positively the kind of a gun Mr. Porter carried when the latter exhibited it to him in the engine room of the Elgin Flour mills. Biggs admitted that he had worked on guns of different makes for many years, that he felt he knew something about the mechanism of firearms, yet after Rand and Ivanhoe had finished with him it was a mooted question whe- il Bolton and Roy Currey were hosts ther a Smith & Wesson, an Ivers | to members and instructors of the M. An event of importance in club life was enjoyed last evening by a score of young men when Joe Whitby, Cecthe young men as hosts showed home training in the role of chefs. Several courses of toothsome vians were dished out a Ia B. M. A. and as the banquet is touted as the forerunner of staveral similar affairs during the winter, the membership is highly delighter as the prospects of a social season that will eclipse all others. The club has commodious quarters and enthusiastic members. Literary and musical realms will be handled with considerable detail in conjunction with the regular athletic features of the club.

Mrs. E. W. Bartlett was given a complete surprise Friday evening sus in District when the Ladies' Aid society of the tal as follows: Presbyterian church went in a body to her home in South La Grande. The evening was delightfully spent in social conversation after which a splendid luncheon was partaken of by all. At a late hour each departing guest was glad of having had the op-portunity of spending the evening with these old time friends.

There will be a supper for the men of the Presbyterian church this evening in honor of W. S. Holt, D. D., who is the field secretary for the coast of the board of Home Missions and who will preach tomorrow morning and evening.
