HIT BY AN ENGINE

Two Baker City Men Escape Death in Miraculous Manner.

Fred Brown and Ben Huber had a miraculous escape from death at noon today when the wagon in which they were riding was struck by a freight engine and completely demolished, says the Baker Herald. Brown was badly injured, being struck in the forehead and the lower part of his back, but Huber escaped with only a few scratches. One of the horses had a leg broken and had to be killed, but the other was bruised a little.

The accident occurred about 12 o'clock as the men were driving across the track at the Dewey avenue crossing. Brown, who runs a dairy was delivering milk and had an enclosed wagon with doors on the sides. They were driving south on Dewey and had driven onto the track before they knew any train was near. The engine, which was running loose without any cars, was coming toward Baker and was onto the rig before Engineer Peterson suspected any danger.

The horses had crossed the track and the wagon was struck fairly in the center by the pilot of the engine. It was carried for a distance of about 20 feet before it was torn completely to pieces and thrown down both sides of the embankment. The front wheels and top of the wagon went on the south side of the track while the rear wheels and part of the body were thrown on the north side. The two men were also thrown into the ditch on the north side, the engine having struck the wagon just in front of them.

Brown was given a severe blow on the head and appeared dazed and stunned when taken to the hospital. He appeared to suffer the greatest pain in his back, which was injured a couple of days ago in a runaway. Huber was scratched on the face but did not require any medical aid or assistance.

According to witnesses who were near the crossing at the time of the accident the engineer on the train did not blow the whistle until within a few feet of the wagon.

This crossing is one of the most dangerous in town and every few days some person has a narrow escape, according to people who live near there. It is impossible for drivers going south on Dewey avenue to see an approaching train coming toward Baker until they are almost onto the track. The brewery buildings shut off the view to the east until within almost 20 feet of the track and a driver must be very careful not to get caught there.

It has only been a little more than a year since Lee Wallace was killed at the Fourth street crossing, which is only a block away. His wagon was completely demolished, his team injured and his life snuffed out instantly. At that time there was considerable talk about compelling the railroad to make these crossings safer, but nothing was ever done to the matter, except to pass an ordinance which has never been enforced. The crossings are dangerous to pedestrians and it is high time that something was done to safeguard the lives of the people who have to cross the track at these places.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.

Normalites Have Spread.

Lewiston, Dec. 23 (Special)—A luncheon, which was given this week by the young women of the rural school training course, at the Lewiston State Normal school, would go very far toward disproving the statement that living is high these days.

The luncheon, which consisted of Chili Rice, Cabbage Salad with Cream Dressing, Biscuits, Tea, Cookies and Apple Sauce, was served at a cost of 10c for each person.

It is quite evident that the young women at the State Normal, who are taking this course in Domestic Science, are learning, not only how to cook, but how to economize.

Wash That Itch Away.

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you know that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find that cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town.

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25 cent bottle today. We assure you of instant relief.—The Newlin Drug Co., Nov. 20-22
