TAILOR LANDS IN JAIL

ED SMITH, WELL KNOWN HERE, IS UNDER CLOUD.

Heid in Jail Here Awaiting Arrival of Enterprise Sheriff Tomorrow.

Successful in eluding the police for seven or eight hours last night, but finally arrested just as his escape from La Grande was about to be effected, Ed. Smith, a former La Grande tailor, but more recently in the same business in Enterprise, is in the city jail today awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Marvin tomorrow from Enterprise. Smith will be returned to Enterprise and tried on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

A diamond ring is involved in the alleged fraudulent deals, is now in the possession of the La Grande police, having been found on Smith's person when Officers McLaughlin and Blystone arrested Smith last evening. The word was passed along from Enterprise before the train arrived yesterday but Smith eluded the waiting police by dripping off the train before it reached town. All afternoon and evening he kept in hiding, but just as the night west bound arrived, he made his way to the depot and was then caught.

Smith was formerly in the tailor business here but moved to Enterprise and operated a stand there. He is accused of having traded clothing left in his establishment for a diamond ring and other valuables. When about to be apprehended, he slipped away on the outgoing train.

BAKER MADE HEADQUARTERS

Burke Placed in Charge—Plan to Eradicate Timber-Destroying Insects.

Baker, Ore., Dec. 26.—A dispatch was received from Washington by Professor H. E. Burke today authorizing the establishment in this city of permanent headquarters for the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture.

W. B. Turner, who is a special agent of the Forest Insect Investigations has been in Baker for several weeks looking over conditions and both he and Mr. Burke were in favor of locating their headquarters here, this being the most convenient point from which to conduct their investigations of the big forest reserves in Eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho. This district includes Baker County, Grant County, the Whitman the Wallowa, the Umatilla, the Deschutes and the Welsler reserves. It is the intention of the Bureau to conduct a rigid investigation to determine the infected areas of timber and to give expert advice and instruction to holders of large tracts of timber. It is said over 75 per cent of the forest fires are directly responsible to standing dead timber killed by certain species of timber insects.

The pine beetle, which is the most destructive, is rapidly spreading through the large reserves and there are cases where vast areas of timber are totally destroyed by this insect. Mr. Turner has just received a message from the Department at Washington instructing him to report there immediately for a conference and direction in regard to the work to be carried on by the Department in this section.

FORSEE SIX DISASTERS

Red Cross Predicts 1911 Will Have Several "Horror."

Washington, Dec. 27 (Special)—Six big disasters will occur in the United States in 1911. This is not the prediction of an astrologer, but the American Red Cross Society.

Experience has taught the Red Cross to expect on an average of five or six big disasters in this country each year. It does not undertake to say when or where they will occur, or whether they will be caused by storm, fire, flood, earthquake or explosion, but it is sure they will come.

Experience proves not only that an average of five or six disasters, severe enough to call aid from the Red Cross, may be expected every year in the United States, but the demands from foreign countries are predicted to be much more numerous.

Some idea of the character and variety of the disasters with which the Red Cross deals is given in the review of those which demanded attention during the last 12 months.

They include in the United States: one hurricane, one mine fire, two mine explosions and forest fires in Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Minnesota. Foreign calamities, demanding aid from the Red Cross included: floods in Mexico, France, Servia and Japan, the Armenian massacres; the earthquake in Costa Rica and the relief of the starving soldiers of Nicaragua.

In the disasters which occurred in the United States 506 lives were lost, while, approximately 7,500 persons lost their homes by fire or hurricane. The Red Cross expended 196,000 for relief operations in the United States and in foreign countries $66,500 was spent, making a total of $262,500. Other relief funds expended in this country in conjunction with those of the Red Cross amounted to $218,600 making the grand total of relief expenditures for the year under Red Cross leadership, $480,800.

"BUFFALO" VERNON HAS SHOW

Well Known Rough Rider and Cowboy Takes on Show at Lewiston.

"Buffalo" Vernon, who got known around the country by his clever bulldogging of a steer at the Pendleton Roundup is getting a "Wild West" show together at Lewiston, Idaho according to a recent item in the Billboard, the organ of the theatrical and circus professions.

Vernon intends to take the road in the early spring. He has made arrangements with the railway company to haul a 10-car train and he is now engaged in putting his men through their paces.

Vernon plans having just his seats covered, in a somewhat similar manner to the Roundup. He hopes to play in ball parks and this will save him from the necessity of hauling seats and equipment for an era.

Bill Weyer of Pendleton is making arrangements to join Vernon in his tour.

The South Trail Pioneers.

Out to the Western Ocean! On to the Sunset Sea! Our Pioneers came trooping, Claimed this land for you and me.

For the Frontier God has called them; On their foreheads while they slept, He had pressed the seal of Conquest, And across their spirits crept, Visions of the distant ranges Hugging close their precious ores; Melody of Mighty Forests, Vivid picturing of shores; Where great treasure past all longing Waited them who'd take the trail Fearless of the dangers thronging That would make their tragic tale.

For the Old South Trail is bordered With the Ladies of the Dead, Who with recklessness had followed Where the bold frontiersmen led. They were chosen from the many; Fearless ones they were, and true, And the work they did was worthy— Was the work that heroes do. On they came through storm and sunshine, Through the stifling, choking dust; For they had a land to conquer; And they kept their holy trust.

I can see their campfires twinkle; Hear the lone coyotes call; As that caravan came creeping To this Last Great West of all, Slowly came the creaking wagons; Steadily without delay; Till they reached the Western Ocean Where the Sunset glories play. Often now in silent midnight When the Summer fades to Fall, You may see that specter caravan Where the moonlight shadows crawl. You may see their campfires twinkle; You may hear their voices call, For their spirits still are sweeping Toward the Last Great West of all. M. W. G. La Grande, Dec. 27, 1910.

Woman Gets What She Wants.

Washington Post: Of course, a woman gets what she wants, despite the protests of some of the more "advanced" of her sex against the tyrannies of the monster, man. But that she hasn't long ago taken her place on equal terms in politics and elsewhere is merely because as a class she has not wanted to. Should she persist in asserting her rights to drink and smoke and vote, just like her husband, no doubt she will gain her point. But when that time comes it will be opportune to repeat a toast made in the early days of the suffrage movement: "The ladies — one our superiors, now our equals."
