

HAZEL KIRK, Prima Donna, as "Lady Leslie" in "A Stubborn Cinderella" at the Steward Monday night.

A PHENOMENAL SHOW.

Big Runs in the East Give Prestige to "Cinderella."

No attraction in recent years has achieved greater success than "A Stubborn Cinderella," a musical comedy of quality. The attraction comes here after phenomenal runs at the Princess Theatre, Chicago, where it was presented for 465 times; at the Broadway Theatre, New York, where it played to capacity houses for six months, and was seen for twelve weeks both in Boston and Philadelphia. Chas. A. Goettler, the producer, has left nothing undone to make this attraction the best musical comedy on tour this season. Hough, Adams and Howard are the authors and the music, which was furnished by Joseph E. Howard, is the brightest and most catchy ever introduced in a comedy of this kind. The cast is headed by Cort Albertson and Hazel Kirk, a most charming and youthful prima donna who captivates all. The chorus is said to be an exceptionally beautiful and competent one. The original production will be presented at the Steward theatre, Monday night, January 9th.

At the Isis.

When a preacher pulls off his coat and mixes things with one of the common herd, it is worth seeing. That is what the Rev. Jim Wright from Missouri does in the picture story running at the Isis this week. This sky pilot makes good from the start in a border town by the way he handles his fets. A Touching Mystery, another film at the Isis, tells a Hindu mystery. Because a woman is denied a jewel she wanted, a Hindu gives her the jewel but puts a curse on it and everything she touches disappears from her husband to a railroad train. The picture runs from the comical to a tragedy. A Victim of His Honesty, a tale of a man by being honest gets the bad end of it every time.

LILLIAN GOLDSMITH.

Miss Goldsmith, who plays the part of "Lola" in "A Stubborn Cinderella," wears a 13½ child's size shoe and it is her foot that local ladies are attempting to equal in the prize contest conducted by the Observer at the N. K. West store. The persons coming nearest to her size of shoe gets the prize. Aside from having a tiny little foot she is a clever actress.

Splendid Pictures at Star.

One of the strongest and best picture programs of the season is one now being shown at the Star, the Edison picture entitled Hefty Burke. It is especially written for Edison production by Richard Harding Davis, and treats with the slums of the east side. Justinian and Theodora is a film treating with ancient times costing thousands of dollars for the settings alone and is one of those Selig pictures which have made up some of the highly entertaining programs heretofore. Crazy Apples is a Vitagraph comedy in which true love runs none to smoothly but has a happy ending with the father giving his consent rather grudgingly, however but he feels he is under some obliga-

Mr. and Mrs. Devere are now here, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Steward.
