Jose Coming Here.

"Silver Threads" a beautiful drama of New England life in which Mr. Richard J. Jose, the famous contra-tenor will appear as Uncle Ben Laurie, the village blacksmith, will be the attraction at the Steward on Wednesday January 18. Mr. Jose will make his reappearance in this city after a score of years on the stage, always ranking among the world's greatest contra-tenors. And it will indeed be a delight to the present generation of theatre-goers that Mr. Jose still retains a voice so rich in quality and of such marvelous range that the audience may rest assured of hearing the same sweet singer as in the days when he was a feature with Primrose & West, Dockstader, Haverly and other famous minstrel organizations of the country.

"Silver Threads" tells the story of a young New England country girl who is sent to Boston to finish her education in music. While there, ignorant of the ways of the world, she comes under the influence of a young author who is the cause of her downfall. Being driven from the parental roof upon her return, she goes to Paris and there becomes a noted singer. Ten years elapse and she returns home under an assumed name just in time to prevent a younger sister from treading the path she unwittingly followed some years before. Through the coaxing of Uncle Ben (Mr. Jose) she again finds a warm spot in her father's heart and all ends happily.

Mr. Jose will sing during the action of the play, "Daddy," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and "When You and I Were Young Maggie." The piece in its entirety is one of the most entertaining plays of the kind ever presented here, and it is reasonably certain that it will repeat in this city the same success it has achieved elsewhere this season.

At the Star.

From the standpoint of scenic beauty of the picture film art probably the best picture that has ever been seen in La Grande was the one entitled A Christmas Carol by Edison. The picture started with an old miser in his cheerless life the day before Christmas. An apparition appears before him and begs him to change his mode of living, and upon his refusal, causes the events of his past life to be enacted before his eyes, and in the end changes his heart and makes a charitable, benevolent man of him. White Roses, a love comedy in which the negligence of an errand boy in delivering a box of roses to a young lady almost causes her losing her fiancée. The Recreation of an Heiress, a comical joke played by an heiress upon the son of a designing friend who wished to marry her for her money. The Preacher's Wife, a tale of unhappiness caused by the wife's love for beautiful feminine things, in which the preacher in trying to save her soul, sent it the other way.

At The Isis.

Beans Not Wanted, is the title of a laughable comedy in which the father of the girl was a dentist and to get rid of unwelcome suitors for the hand of his daughter uses various expedients toward that end and finally extracts the front teeth of one, which gains him a son-in-law in the other. The Pinkerton Man, a beautiful reel picture of a man hunt in the snow clad mountains of Colorado in which a bank robber by a clever ruse gives the detective the slip and the detective falls in love with the wife. He was unsuccessful in his man hunt, but his admiration for the woman brings him back in time and he finds his quarry dying from consumption and the chase ends by death claiming the robber. At Cedar Ridge, a love affair in which true love takes to the narrow crooked path for a time but finally ends in true loverlike fashion.

Star Change Tonight.

Two comedy reels of film at the Star for tonight and tomorrow is a feature which is seldom seen at any picture theatre, but in this change the Star has outdone itself and will give its patrons a program brimming over with humorous mixtures on a western ranch where a party of girls "who are sworn enemies of men" meet with a bunch of cowboys. The picture is entitled "The Cowboys and the Bachelor Girls." In the net we see

Mike the housemaid. Mike makes good as housemaid all right but gets in trouble inasmuch as Mike is very fond of silverware which leads to his undoing. This comedy is contagious, and while the unfortunate doesn't quite see the joke it is obvious that the audience can.

Valley Forge Tonight.

"Valley Forge" that heart stirring story of war time takes the boards tonight at the Orpheum theatre as the third change since this popular stock company "struck town." The houses continue to be well pleased with the company, each and every one and Manager Gardinier promises the best yet in "Valley Forge." The players are particularly well fitted for the roles they will carry in this drama. Unless the show goes has seen this company, he has not seen all there is in the amusement line of high quality in this city.

YOU CAN ORDER your COAL by TELEPHONE?

THE TELEPHONE is the coal man's best salesman.

Many of his customers he never sees, for their orders come by wire and their checks by mail.

If you move into a new house or have an unexpected need of fuel, you can often save a day's time by telephoning your order.

In the mining and shipping of coal, the Bell Telephone has become an important factor. The wholesale markets and sources of supply are kept in constant touch with the Bell Long Distance Service and the danger of a coal famine greatly reduced.
