HONEYMOON TRIAL TO BE HERE
JANUARY 24TH.

Chance for Everyone to Get Inside Information.

The cast of principals with "Honeymoon Trail," this season, contains many notables of the musical comedy world. Amongst them are Louis Kelso (the original "Tommy Perks-ins" in this play) who created such a tremendous hit with "The Girl in the Kimona" at the Zeigfeld Theatre (Chicago) last summer; Arline Boling, the favorite prima donna; Fred Wyckoff, probably the best-known delineator of "reub" and "old men" characters on the American stage; Carl George (the original Dutchman with "Honeymoon Trail"); Clara Dalton, who was last season featured soubrette with Cohan and Harris's "Honeymooners," Rose Kildea, last season featured with "The American Ida;" Bonnie Armstrong, considered the greatest beauty with Lew Fields' big revue "The Midnight Sons," and many others of lesser prominence.

The chorus with "Honeymoon Trail" is said to be the handsomest and most shapely ever seen with a road attraction and comprises girls who are usually employed with the big located companies; salaries considerably larger than those paid average chorus girls were necessarily forthcoming in order to have them go en tour but Kelly and Fitzgerald wanted none but the best with their pet attraction and they have them.

The scenic equipment of "Honeymoon Trail" is of the most massive and ponderous kind, two special baggage cars being required for its equipment and a travelling working crew of eight skilled stage mechanics and electricians being carried for its proper handling.

The costumes alone represent a bona fide investment of over $10,000.
Seat sale opens Sunday.
