Some Good Lookers in "Honey Moon Trail" at Steward Tuesday, Jan. 24.

The theatrical business, perhaps more than any other, exemplifies the truth of the old adage, "none but the really good can endure." Its various stocks in trade, namely, the various attractions which go to make up the theatrical business, are more affected than are other stocks in trade, more staple by nature, and are always governed by the law "the survival of the fittest." Statistics show that seventy-two percent of the theatrical productions launched each year by the American producers, both big and little, prove to be failures.

When a production contains all the elements of success, however, there is no public more ready to bestow upon it approval and patronage than the American theatre-going public.

"Honey Moon Trail," which comes to La Grande Tuesday night, is a striking example of a real theatrical success. From the time the curtain arose upon its initial performance at the LaSalle Theatre, Chicago, almost three years ago, it has met with success of the most gratifying kind. "Hard luck stories" have never followed its presentation, and in every city in which it has been offered the press and public have been unanimous in declaring it the wittiest, most melodious, most beautifully mounted and most generously dressed production of the season.

Kelley and FitzGerald have been far sighted enough to see that "Honey Moon Trail" is too valuable a property to allow it to deteriorate and this season, therefore, sees it with as beautiful and elaborate a production as when its music first floated over the footlights. A cast numbering almost all the original favorites, and containing in its roster such well known players as Louis Kelso, Fred Wyckoff, Arline Bolling and Carl W. George give to this tuneful comedy a snappy and artistic presentation. The famous LaSalle Theatre chorus containing thirty of the greatest singing and dancing girls on the American stage, is a feature. Sale of seats opens Sunday.

MONTANA AFTER SLAVERS. White Slave Traffic Will Receive Serious Blow in That State.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 20.—Edward Dolan, state senator from Missoula county, has introduced a bill in the Montana legislature which, if enacted into law, will put a check on the practice of so-called "white slavery" in this state. The penalty is made sufficiently severe that few persons will care to engage in it.

The bill provides that the importation of women and girls into Montana or the exportation of women or girls from this state for immoral purposes shall be considered in violation of the law, and any person who induces, or attempts to induce, entice or procure a girl or woman to enter or leave this state for the purpose of prostitution shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction, shall be punished by a term in the state prison, of not less than two years or more than 20 years, or by a fine of not less than $1000, nor more than $5000 or by both fine and imprisonment.

The bill provides that any person who places any female in the charge of any person with the intent that she shall lead a life of shame, or who connives to influence her to an immoral house, shall be subject to the penalty mentioned above upon conviction. The bill is also intended to eliminate the practice, in which some men engage, of receiving money, jewelry, clothes and other valuable things, without consideration, from the proceeds of fallen women.

In this connection, the bill provides that any person who knowingly accept, receive, levy, or appropriate any money or other valuable thing without consideration, from the proceeds or earnings of any woman engaged in prostitution shall be deemed guilty of a felony and, on conviction, shall be punished by a term of imprisonment in the state prison for not less than two years, nor more than 20 years, or by a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $5000, or by both fine and imprisonment.

The bill provides that any person who shall live with, or in whole or in part upon the earnings of a common prostitute or the man or woman prostitute of woman of bad repute, shall be guilty of a felony, and shall be punished by imprisonment for a period of not less than one year, nor more than 20 years.

Women Write Book. Spokane, Wash., Jan. 20.—Two well-known Spokane women, under the nom deplume of Warren and Alice Jones, have recently written a book, entitled, "The Man With the Scar," which has just been brought out for them by Richard G. Badger of Boston. The principal scenes are laid in the Cumberland mountains of Tennessee and deal with the mountaineers. Through the narrative runs a love story, the heroine of which is a pretty, attractive southern girl. The principal characters are patterned after people whom the writers have known and have met in their travels. The writers are Miss Jessie Alice Haskins, night librarian at the Spokane Carnegie library, and her sister, Mrs. Eleanor H. Holly, who is employed at the Spokane county court house.

ANTI-CUPID BOND DEWS.

Hello Girls Who Give Heavy Bonds Get Plenty of Love Letters.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 20.—The story was published recently in the "Spokane Post" of Miss Margaret Perkins, one of the telephone operators at the St. Nicholas hotel, had been required to give a $500 bond not to get married for six months, her mail has been voluminous. Yesterday she received four letters from strangers, all of them hinting broadly that if she was willing to get married they would like to be the other contracting party. One of these letters is from a former Spokane boy, now of Lakehurst, N. J., another from Brooklyn, N. Y., the writer being anxious to know if all the telephone girls in Spokane are tied up in the same way, because such was not the case when he was last here. The third, from Thief River Falls, Minn., is from an ardent swain who backs up a highly colored word picture of himself with the statement that he has $5,000 and a good home, with no drawbacks other than a "3-year-old duplicate," for whom he wants a step-mother. The fourth letter is from a matrimonial bureau at Oakland, Cal., which encloses a blank to be filled out by the applicant for matrimony, in which, after paying due attention to age, color of hair and eyes, complexion, weight and height, the greater part of the blank lines are left to be filled in with particulars of occupation, income, value of property and amount of cash on hand.

GOOD NEWS.
