MOODY'S DREAM COMES TRUE

Chicago, Jan. 23 (Special).—D. L. Moody was once seen standing in a vacant lot in the rear of the Moody church with his head bowed in prayer, and being asked what he was praying for, said that it was for money with which to erect a building for Bible training school. This prayer was answered in part by the erection of the present men's building. Continued answer was given in the purchase of the building on La Salle avenue for women's dormitories, and still further in the men's new building dedicated February 5th, 1910, and the women's new dormitory which is in course of construction, the outside is now complete and the contractors are busily working on the inside construction in the hope of its partial occupancy by Founder's Day, February 5th, 1911.

These buildings born of prayer, and built by prayer, have been consecrated by the prayers of nearly 9,000 students, who have here learned the deep things of God, and especially "The exceeding greatness of His power to usward who believe."

Someone has said that a boy without a fortune is a fortunate boy. However this may be, it is certainly fortunate for many young people that Dwight L. Moody was born poor, for it led him to sympathize heartily with every other young man who like himself had small means and large aspirations.

Need of Lay Workers.
He early recognized that a considerable part of our religious work must be done by lay workers. He also saw that there were thousands of young men and young women to whom a college education was impossible but who with a year or two of training in the English Bible, personal work and music might be able to fill many positions of usefulness which their gifts and calling might indicate.

This led him to found the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, which affords perhaps the most remarkable combination of study and practical work that the world has ever seen. It is in no sense a theological seminary or rival of the seminaries. It does not teach Hebrew or Greek, but it has five different methods of teaching the English Bible. The training is so practical, and the religious atmosphere so inspiring, that hundreds of ministers and theological students come here to supplement their seminary course. Some missionary boards also advise all their candidates for the foreign field to spend at least a few months at the institute.

Method of Training.
The method is to combine practical training with lectures and study. Mr. Moody being pre-eminently a man of one book and having achieved his marvelous success with that alone naturally felt that the English Bible ought to occupy the first place in the training of men for Christian work. Accordingly the students are required to study the Bible as a whole, and each of its parts in particular. They are taught to analyze the books, and to dissect each chapter so as to discover the principal subject and leading lesson.

Furthermore they are shown how to use the Bible in leading men to Christ, and in meeting the various excuses which arise in Christian work. Each student has from three to five assignments a week for personal work in jails, missions, Gospel wagon or other services, and they are examined on their personal work as well as on their studies. In this way they get an all-round experience which the classroom alone could never give.

Effect Upon the Students.
Nothing develops a worker like meeting difficulties, and if one can conduct an open air meeting where every other door is a saloon, or brothel, or a five cent theatre, and arrest the attention of such a crowd with the simple story of the Cross, and actually lead men to Christ, he is bound to grow in grace and knowledge and spiritual power. Work like this drives men to their knees, and no student who is living a careless, prayerless life will dare attempt it.

This combination of religious work with classroom training is very helpful to the spiritual life of the students, and the result is that the atmosphere of the school is like that of a continuous revival.

No object is more constantly emphasized than the importance of the courtesy and tact in approaching strangers, or in introducing the subject of religion anywhere. The manner of presenting truth is often quite as important as the matter, and every ambassador for Christ should be first of all a Christian gentleman. The Institute cannot furnish common sense of course, but it aims to develop and train the gifts of each student, and it is doubtful if any school can show a greater contrast between its raw material and its finished product.

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Union County.
Elsie Quesada, Plaintiff, vs. Juan Quesada, Defendant.

To Juan Quesada, the above-named defendant:
In the Name of the State of Oregon. You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled Court and suit, on or before the time prescribed in the order directing the publication hereof, to-wit: Six consecutive weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, which is January 9th, 1911.

And if you fail to appear, answer or otherwise plead within the said time, the Plaintiff will ask the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: For a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between said plaintiff and defendant, and granting said plaintiff an absolute decree of divorce, and permitting plaintiff to assume her maiden name, Elsie Wiecek.

By virtue of an order of the Hon. J. W. Knowles, Judge of the above-entitled court, this summons is published in the La Grande Daily Observer a daily newspaper printed and published at La Grande, Union County, Oregon, which order was made and entered on the 9th day of January, 1911.
