TO NIGHT'S PROGRAM

Overture "H. M. S. Pinafore" (By request) Charles E. King.

"Badman's Christmas Gift"—Easy. In stolen disguise as Santa Claus the bad man comes near a tragedy and is reformed by the influence of Christmas surroundings.

"The Argonauts"—Selig. A thrilling dramatic story depicting the struggles of the early settlers in the gold rush of 1849. "The Joke They Played on Bumptious"—Edison. A scream from start to finish. Bumptious becomes initiated into the mysteries and delights of the "Club Cocktail" with results which must be seen to be appreciated, and yet a "Bumptious Club Cocktail" is perfectly harmless. See it!

WILL BE BETTER THAN EVER

COMIC OPERA SHINES BRIGHT WITH LOCAL TALENT.

New Features Have Been Added for This Evening at Steward.

"It will be the best I have ever produced," is the way Professor Robinson described the comic opera to be presented tonight at the Steward theatre by the High school cast.

Since the production of this highly pleasing number a few nights ago the cast has been working upon new features which with the original opera will make the evening one of rich merriment and high grade entertainment.

Few events have elicited more praise in La Grande than did Pinafore as presented by the High school. Those taking leading parts are blessed with excellent ability and which indicates a long career of public appearance. The chorus is simply great and those comprising it have worked hard to bleed off what few rough corners they possessed on first appearance.

The prices tonight will be within reason for 25c, 35c, 50c and 75c will prevail.

TEAM BRINGS $500

M. S. Levy of Union Buys Span of Fancy Horses at North Powder.

M. S. Levy has purchased a fine span of Percheron mares from James Wilson of North Powder. The mares are at about their best and weigh together 3,000 pounds. The price has not been made known but is said to be $500. Mr. Levy will use the team on his ranch west of the city.

Back from Wallowa.

James M. Spence and wife returned today from Wallowa county.
